

POWER EXPORT BACKED BY SOCRED CONVENTION

OTTAWA (CP) — Power exports—sought by Premier Bennett of British Columbia in his battle against the federal government—would be provided by a national Social Credit government.

This plank in the platform was approved today at the leadership convention "upon terms which will safeguard future national requirements."

There was no discussion, also speedily approved was the desirability of extending gas and oil pipelines throughout Canada to encourage domestic production and sales.

PNR Decides To Go Ahead On Yukon Line

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Pacific Northern Railway has decided to build its long-proposed line between Summit Lake, B.C., and the Yukon border, it was announced today.

An announcement by president Bernard Gore, released here, said the company has accepted one of two alternatives presented recently by the British Columbia government.

The $300,000,000 line would stretch 600 miles from Summit Lake, 50 miles north of Prince George, to the border.

Mr. Gore's announcement, following a board of directors meeting at Montreal Wednesday, also said a general manager will be named shortly and that Alt. Vice-Marshal W. A. Curtis has been named director and member of the executive committee.

The announcement did not say which of the government's alternatives were accepted. Such details had been sent to B.C. Transport Minister Westwood who was to make the disclosure. Mr. Westwood said, in Victoria, he had not received the details.

ALTERNATIVES
Premier Bennett May 30 issued an ultimatum to the railway, which was supposed to begin construction May 24, giving these alternatives for an extension of time:

Let firm contracts by Nov. 1 for the first 100 miles of the line; Deliver firm undertakings, plans and definite work schedules for construction to Takla Lake near the border by Nov. 1 and agree to start construction not later than June 1, 1962.

This alternative required a $200,000 deposit with the government, to be forfeited if the work did not begin on schedule. Failure to follow the schedule would also bring cancellation of all applications by the company to the government.

The government was to have a reply by July 17.

The 600-mile-long railway has been discussed since 1956 when Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren and the British Columbia government signed agreements for a vast exploration and development program to be undertaken in the province's northland.

On June 29, 1960, Premier Bennett cut down a symbolic fir at a clearing near Summit Lake, 30 miles north of Prince George, and declared that work on the line would never stop until it reached the Yukon.

SURVEYS FINISHED

The company, incorporated last year after Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company had completed surveys through northern B.C. and set out a proposed route running north-northwest from Summit Lake, cleared an area roughly 200 yards wide and three miles long.

Adjacent to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway line running to the Peace River region, the area was designated as the PNR marshalling yards.

Soon after the ceremonial beginning, work stopped.

This spring, the provincial government removed the railway from jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Act and placed it solely under the Railway Act, administered by Mr. Westwood. Conflict between the two acts had been blamed for the delay in construction.

Later this year, the government gave the PNR until mid-July to post a $200,000 bond and get at the job.

KUWAIT

U.K. Troops To Mine Border

By COLIN FROST

KUWAIT TOWN (AP) — Britain's commander in Kuwait has ordered the desert frontier mined, charging Iraqi forces across the border appear to be building up at an increased pace.

Brig Derek Horsford, defending his decision to mine the frontier, said: "I have been ordered to come in and organize the defence of this country. If I am caught with my pants down then I would deserve the sack."

British military sources said the Iraqis, despite their continued insistence that they would get control of the oil-rich sheldom—only by peaceful means, appear poised for offensive action.

REPORTS DENIED

The Iraq news agency reported that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassim, after a plane survey of areas near the Kuwait border Wednesday, denied the British reports of Iraqi troop concentrations and said "the British know that to date Iraq has not moved a single soldier."

Kassim said in his statement that Iraq will combat British imperialism "by all legitimate ways... until the liberation of our Arab countries in the gulf and until Kuwait, the stolen part, is saved and restored to its homeland, Iraq."

In the UN Security Council the United Arab Republic and the Soviet Union joined Iraq in demanding the immediate withdrawal of the British forces.

Abdel Khalek Hassouna, Arab League secretary-general, who is trying to mediate through talks with the Arab governments, was in Saudi Arabia today after conferring with sheik Abdullah and Premier Kassim.

Hassouna said before leaving Wednesday he was convinced a peaceful solution could be found.

Six British warships, including the aircraft carrier Centaur, started through the Suez Canal, bound for Kuwait, U.A.R. President Nasser, who seized the canal from British-French control in 1956, made no attempt to block them though he is opposed to the British force in Kuwait.

In London, Britain announced today it has completed movement of troops into Kuwait.

"It is hoped that as a result the situation is stabilized for the moment," the defence ministry said.

MATRON SAVED CAROLINE

fully clothed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Caroline Kennedy slipped through an inner tube into water over her head at a swimming pool last week and was rescued by the daughter-in-law of a senator, the White House said today.

The three-year-old daughter of President Kennedy was pulled from the water by Mrs. William Saltonstall, daughter-in-law of Massachusetts Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

Mrs. Saltonstall, a mother of two children and expecting another, jumped, fully clothed into the pool when she saw Caroline was in trouble.

The incident occurred at the suburban Washington home of Jacqueline Kennedy's step-sister, Mrs. Newton Steers.

Gov't Rejects Tariff Change

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker declared today that the Senate will have to back down on its amendment to the government's tariff legislation or the country will have a general election on the issue of Senate reform.

He said in the Commons that the tariff bill was clearly a taxation measure, on which the Senate has no right to make any amendments.

Taxation was a right of the House of Commons established in the 15th century in the United Kingdom, and held to be so by former prime minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

He spoke of "resounding desk-thumping and cheers from his supporters. During his challenging speech, he glanced repeatedly to the Senate gallery where about half a dozen senators, both Conservatives and Liberals, watched and listened."

"We are not going to accept this amendment," Mr. Diefenbaker declared repeatedly.

SOONER OR LATER

"The question of whether the Senate is to go beyond the responsibility it can discharge under the constitution is a question the Canadian people will have to deal with sooner or later."

He said that in the last four years of Conservative government, the Senate, which has a Liberal majority, has made numerous amendments to Commons bills, and most of them had been beneficial and helpful.

One amendment previously had come close to stepping over the line between taxation and non-tax bills, he added. But, the amendment to the tariff bill was clearly a Senate challenge to a tax measure.

"In this case, the government takes its stand," Mr. Diefenbaker said. "We shall not accept the authority or right of the Senate to make this amendment."

PEARSON ASKS QUESTION

Opposition Leader Pearson asked whether the prime minister meant that the government refuses to accept the Senate amendment that there should be a right of an appeal and that the government would stand or fall on that issue.

Mr. Diefenbaker said his statement had been quite clear. There was no equivocation or fence-straddling of the type indulged in by the leader of the Opposition.

The prime minister said the tariff bill was designed to create jobs. For too long, he said, the tariff law had permitted evasions regarding goods of a class or kind made in Canada.

DIEFENBAKER

"Evasions of the legislation have crippled production and the industrial capacity of Canada," he said.

"If they (the senators) choose to stand on what they have done, legislation beneficial to the Canadian people can only pass out of existence."

The prime minister spoke on a government motion to reject the Senate's amendment to the bill. The Senate will receive the Commons message after it receives approval and then will have to decide whether to insist on its side or submit.

One further step is provided for in the rules. If the Commons rejects the Senate amendment, and the Senate insists on it, a conference of Senate and Commons representatives can be held to smooth out the differences.

The Senate amendment would provide an appeal against ministerial decisions applying a new definition of goods of a class or kind made in Canada.

The government measure, providing no appeal in such cases, is designed to provide stronger tariff protection for certain Canadian manufactured goods where present law provides two tariff rates — a high duty for goods of a class or kind made in Canada and a low rate for others.

Bus System Problem If BCE Taken Over

By FRANK RUTTER

RUSS TRAWLER STEALS SUB-DETECTING BUOY

OTTAWA (CP) — The navy today related the story of a Russian trawler that skipped in under an RCAF aircraft laying submarine-detecting buoys in the Atlantic, swiped one and cruised off.

The RCAF Argus aircraft was laying sonobuoys in the Atlantic 100 miles off the south coast of Nova Scotia when the trawler came on the scene.

The fishing trawler made a "sharp alteration of course and picked up one of the sonobuoys," headquarters reported.

Navy officials said no attempt was made to intercept the ship or recover the sonobuoy—which, officials said, contained no "classified" material.

CBC Revenue Hit By Private TV

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC's need for federal funds to cover its costs rose by 13.4 per cent to $39,288,476 in the last fiscal year as new competition from private TV stations in the big cities started biting into its advertising revenues.

What's more, the financial effects of this competition will get worse, the CBC said in its annual report made public today.

The publicly-owned corporation indicated that, as a result, its calls on the federal treasury will grow larger.

The report for the year ending last March 31, tabled in the Commons by Marcel Lambert, parliamentary secretary to Revenue Minister Nowlan, showed the CBC's budget topped the $100,000,000 mark for the first time.

EXPENSES RISE

Total expenses reached $100,952,825, an increase of $6,913,060 or 7.4 per cent over 1959-60 outlays of $94,039,765 when expenses rose by 7.7 per cent.

But gross advertising revenues from TV and radio dropped by 1.5 per cent to $37,601,651 from $38,162,337, in sharp contrast with the 18.3 per cent gain the previous year in ad revenue yields. The total was some $1,500,000 short of goals set for CBC salesmen in their drive for commercial revenues.

This commercial income, combined with some other minor revenue sources, left the CBC to use $59,288,476 of its parliamentary grant for the year.

Value of the Victoria transit system has been estimated at $2,500,000.

However, if municipalities were given the task of distributing power sold to them wholesale by a new province-wide utility, city officials hope the profits from power could be used to subsidize the bus service.

Such a system is operated in Winnipeg.

But there is no indication that the government here would be willing to hand out power distribution to municipalities.

The present government power agency, B.C. Power Commission, retains its own electricity.

The idea of municipalities distributing power was tried out in B.C. at the end of the Second World War, when the late Premier John Hart considered taking over B.C. Electric.

That plan would have meant a single provincial agency would sell wholesale electricity to municipalities for retail through municipally-operated distribution lines.

The scheme came to nothing.

HEADS SOCREDs

National president and educationist-chiropractor from Red Deer, Alberta, Robert N. Thompson, 47, today was elected national leader of the Social Credit party at its Ottawa convention. Thompson, who had the backing of Premier Manning of Alberta, was elected on the first ballot.

Welfare Approved

OTTAWA (CP) — Doctrinaire Social Crediters put up a stiff but unsuccessful fight today to keep what they felt were welfare state ideas out of the party's national policy platform.

The floor battle emerged as the Social Credit national convention studied a policy declaration on social welfare, health and research.

The delegates adopted a plank in the party platform promising a standard of living through a Social Credit monetary system limited only by the ability and willingness of Canadians to "produce the volume and quality of goods and services necessary."

The aim would be to give each Canadian a chance to improve his economic status "through his own enterprise."

TCA Strike Talks

MONTREAL (CP) — Representatives of Trans-Canada Airlines and its air plane attendants sat down with a special mediator today to try to avert a strike scheduled for July 21.

Strong Guarantees Demanded by Kuwait

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Kuwait will not agree to the withdrawal of British troops until the United Nations gives it "good and strong guarantees" that its independence will be respected, a Kuwaiti spokesman said today.

Abdel Aziz Hussein, told a press conference he agreed with the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic that foreign troops must leave Kuwait, but insisted that British forces were there on the invitation of Kuwaiti ruler Sheik Abdullah Al-Salem Al-Sabah to guard against "an aggressor who is threatening the peace." They will not be asked to leave until the threat is removed, he added.

PEACEFUL SAN MARINO ACCEPTS WAR DAMAGE

16 Years of Hagglng Ends

SAN MARINO (AP) — The tiny republic of San Marino, continually at peace since before the middle ages, agreed today to accept £80,000 ($244, 000) from Britain for war damage.

After 16 years of haggling with London, the San Marino Grand Council parliament voted 32 to 17 to accept the British offer. Communist and socialist members voted no.

San Marino, 38 square miles and 15,000 citizens, lies in the Apennine Mountains east of central Italy near Rimini. It claims to be the oldest republic in Europe, dating from the fourth century.

RAF bombers blasted the republic June 26, 1944, killing 59 residents and causing extensive damage. The bombing presumably was a mistake because San Marino was at war with no one.

Britain had offered the same sum—£80,000—right after the war. The Grand Council rejected it then as "a ridiculous offer."

Don't know why Dief is so cross with the senate. It was only tryin' to make amends.

Seems they been workin' on th' railroad after all.

Takin' over the BCE would sure rate as a current event.

(Times News Services)
GLASGOW — Catherine McCaig Tuesday completed a six-day jail sentence for painting a book window black to hide a display of "Lady Chatterley's Lover."
"I don't regret it," the 61-year-old spinster told reporters. "This book is offensive to the citizens of Glasgow. It should be banned. The shop should not be selling such filth. This was the only way I could think of to protest."

Two policemen arrested her two weeks ago. She was sent to jail in lieu of a $20 fine.
"Had she read the D. H. Lawrence work?"
"I wouldn't dream of reading it," snapped Miss Cardie.

WEDGEPORT, N.S.—This season's bluefin tuna catch was reduced to zero today.

Last week the Nova Scotia information bureau announced that angler Harry Dossicette landed a 483-pounder in nearby Lobster Bay. Harry caught the fish all right—in 1936.

An embarrassed bureau spokesman said the item was mistakenly picked from Yarmouth newspaper's 25-year-old column.

LONDON—Someone at Moscow Radio goofed Wednesday.

The radio broadcast a report that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Finland to celebrate President Urho Kekkonen's 60th birthday.

In fact, Kekkonen was 60 last Sept. 3 and Khrushchev did visit Finland at that time.

British Broadcasting Corp. personnel who monitored the broadcast said it also carried other items—a condemnation of United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and a story on The Congo—which pertained to events that happened last year.

BBC officials suspected that an absent-minded technician had used a tape recording from last year's broadcasts. The broadcast was aired twice in English.

LONDON—Prince Philip said today construction of a new building is messing up television reception at Buckingham Palace.

Visiting an architectural convention, he asked one architect what buildings he was working on. The architect mentioned a site in Victoria Street, adjacent to the palace.

"Ah," said the Queen's husband, "that's the one that interferes with my television when I want to watch the test match. See the players double?"

CHICAGO—Christmas came on Fourth of July again Tuesday for Mrs. Cecelia Garner and her lawn party was as cheery as ever.

The big front lawn of her home on the north side was a jolly outdoor version of the usual indoor Christmas celebration.

There were Christmas carols, a flaming Yule log, mistletoe and about 40 happy guests shouting "Merry Christmas" around a big, gaily decorated Christmas tree.

After more than 10 years of Christmas-in-July the neighborhood takes the celebration pretty much for granted. "They just join right in," Mrs. Garner said.

The neighbors started joining in the party in 1950 when Mrs. Garner got tired of missing Christmas. As operator of a hotel hat check concession, she works all holidays—except July 4th.

"I finally decided to start celebrating Christmas my own way," she said.

Red Chinese Linens
Shipped via Canada

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Federal agents have charged Joseph Adjmi, a linen shop operator, with violation of federal law against trading with the enemy.

He also was charged with conspiracy to trade with the enemy and smuggle goods into the United States from Communist China.

Also charged with conspiracy and smuggling were Charles Adjmi, Joseph's brother, and Leon Adjmi, father of Joseph and Charles.

Prior to the arrests Wednesday, agents raided 10 linen shops in Miami and Miami Beach, seizing what they said were Communist-made linens.

$500,000 INVOLVED

E. E. Minskoff, chief enforcement officer of the treasury department's foreign assets control division, said the total will reach $500,000 when the investigation is complete.

Minskoff said the conspiracy began in December, 1958, when Joseph and Leon Adjmi visited Hong Kong and set up a trading account to buy linens produced in Red China.

The agent said the goods were shipped to a firm in London, which transshipped them to an agent in Toronto. He did not know how the goods got from Toronto to Miami.

Gambling
Appealed

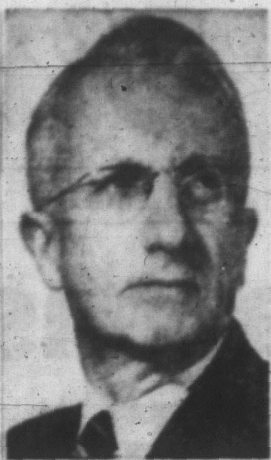

TORONTO (CP)—The Crown Wednesday filed application for appeal against the acquittal of two gamblers and a former Ontario Provincial Police officer on conspiracy charges.

Special prosecutor Gordon Ford said the Crown was appealing because the jury had reached a "perverse decision" in acquitting Joseph McDermott, Vincent Feeley and ex-OPP gambling squad officer Robert Wright.

Earlier in the day, John T. (Diamond Jim) Mullis, surrendered to police on a charge of attempting to bribe a member of the jury that acquitted the three men.

Juror James Esterbrook said he was offered $20,000 by a man with whom he had dinner during the trial. Mullis was remanded to Aug. 15 for trial.

Census Refusal

OTTAWA (UPI)—Legal action has been taken against only one person for refusing to answer census questions. Trade Minister George Hees said today.

Hees, who reports to Parliament for the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, said a few cases have been investigated, but court action taken only against Vancouver radio and television commentator Roy Jacques.

He said the case has been adjourned to July 6. Penalty upon conviction is $100.

Summit on Berlin
Sought by Nikita

LONDON (UPI)—High Communist-diplomats indicated Wednesday that Soviet Premier Khrushchev would like a Big Four summit conference late this year to discuss the Berlin crisis at top level before the East or West make final decisions.

The diplomats said the Soviet leader wants to have a round of talks with the Western leaders by November or early December.

The Soviets were reported to hold that since Berlin and Germany are four-power responsibilities, Khrushchev should meet in conference with President Kennedy, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle.

Such a four-power summit meeting could be prepared by East-West consultations through diplomatic channels or, if necessary, by a foreign ministers' conference.

Moscow apparently would like to avoid a foreign ministers' meeting because it might delay speedy decisions.

July 15 'D-Day' On Prairies

By The Canadian Press
The Prairies are on the brink of a drought disaster, Manitoba Agriculture Minister George Hutton said Wednesday.
"July 15 is D-Day," he said. "If we don't get rain by then, we've got a disaster—a serious one."
Mr. Hutton said the Manitoba cabinet will ask the federal government to declare the Prairies a disaster area if the drought situation is not eased in the next few days.

Oak Bay Aids Flood Area

Oak Bay is reaching across the continent to aid victims of serious flooding in New Brunswick in May.
Aid takes the form of a $500 cheque for a relief fund supported by such authorities as Fredericton Mayor William T. Walker, who wrote Oak Bay council last week.
A similar letter was referred by Victoria Mayor Percy Scowen to a meeting of city council next week.

Same Grain Payment

OTTAWA (CP)—Initial payments on the 1961-62 Prairie grain crop will be the same as this year, Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton announced today in the Commons.

86 Die, 300 Wounded In Algeria Rioting

(CP From Reuters-AP)
ALGIER—Strong security forces guarded a dozen trouble spots throughout Algeria today in the wake of bloody clashes Wednesday between troops and Moslems demonstrating against partition of this North African territory.
At least 86 persons were killed and 300 wounded in the clashes. The death toll was expected to top 100 when all victims have been reported. The French reported six of their men dead and 20 wounded.
Most Moslems returned to work today after the midnight expiration of the general strike order from the insurgent National Liberation Front (FLN).
Algeria was bustling with activity again. Reports said conditions were normal in other coastal cities and in most of the interior.
PRECAUTIONS TAKEN
But precautions were taken in fear of further disorders during the funerals of those killed.
The slaughter came when French troops opened fire on demonstrators at a string of centres in Algeria, mainly at Constantine and towns west of Algiers.
French officials said that for the first time in Algeria uniformed insurgents appeared openly in the streets to egg on the demonstrators to attack troops with stones, iron bars, knives and other weapons.

A French official in Algiers admitted the disorders "hardly contribute" to chances of peace.

Ulbricht Pledges 'Neutral' Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters)—East German Communist party boss Walter Ulbricht said today East Germany "will not resort to aggressive acts" over a proposed German peace treaty and Berlin.

"There will be negotiations, everything will be peaceful," Ulbricht told the Volkskammer (parliament). But "there will be no delay."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has said Russia will sign a peace treaty with East Germany by the end of this year, threatening Western access rights to Berlin 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Ulbricht made the pledge of non-aggression in introducing an East German "peace plan," calling for the conclusion of a peace treaty and the transformation of West Berlin into a "demilitarized, neutral free city."

U.S. Reply On Berlin Held Up

NEW YORK (AP)—A snag has developed in the dispatch of a western answer to the Russian memorandum on Berlin, owing to West German worries over the scope of the proposed reply, the New York Herald Tribune says today.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper adds:

"West Germany's ambassador at Washington, Wilhelm G. Grewe, has flown to Bonn to explain to his worried boss, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, just what the Western proposals mean and has already conveyed back to Washington the chancellor's objections."

FEARS 'LOOPHOLES'

It is understood that Adenauer fears that the language of the proposed Western reply to the Berlin memo of Soviet Premier Khrushchev is so broad as to provide loopholes the Russians could exploit to their own purposes.

SYRIA UPSET BY ISRAELI ROCKET SHOT

DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuters)—The Syrian press today described Israel's rocket launching Wednesday as "open brawling" and charged that "imperialist powers" were behind the operation.

Al Ayman said the rocket was similar to one launched to a height of 10 miles by a Lebanese citizen six months ago. The paper said the rocket was not a scientific one but carried explosive materials.

Cairo newspapers briefly reported the launching on the front page but did not comment.

2 Big Unions Back Gaitskell Defence Policy

LONDON (Reuters)—Two of Britain's biggest trade unions Wednesday dealt another severe blow to the policy of unilateral disarmament advocated by some members of the Labor party.

Delegates at the annual conference of the 334,000-member National Union of Railwaymen at Edinburgh, rejected unilateralism by a majority of two votes. Last year the union supported unilateralism by one vote.

At Rothsay, Scotland, the 639,000-member National Union of Mine-Workers reiterated its stand in favor of Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell's "collective security" defence policy.

The votes follow a general return toward the so-called "Gaitskell line" on defence which has been under way since the Scarborough conference.

Where Are We Heading?

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT seriously intends to take over all electrical power in British Columbia and export most of it to the United States. It must first reverse the historic policy of the nation.

All Mr. Bennett's new plans as outlined in Ottawa despatches are based on the assumption that the federal government will permit massive power exports which it has forbidden since the 1920s.

Alternatively some unnamed provincial spokesmen argue that the federal government has no legal control over power exports, that its existing legislation in this field is unconstitutional, that any province can export as it pleases regardless of Ottawa's opposition. If this remarkable theory were upheld by the courts it would simply mean that the control of the nation's international trade and all economic aspects of foreign policy would pass from the national government to ten separate provincial governments. For practical economic purposes Canada would cease to be a nation.

But Mr. Bennett we assume is too wise to base his plans on any such fantastic constitutional doctrine. Evidently he intends to force the surrender of national power policy by direct political pressure.

The federal government cannot stop him from investing a billion dollars or more of the British Columbia people's money in power projects on the Columbia, Peace, Fraser and other rivers and thus creating a vast supply of electricity which cannot be sold in Canada.

Once this power is developed without a Canadian market Mr. Bennett may hope that the federal government will bail him out of his gigantic expenditures by allowing the alienation of the power to the United States. The pressure to save his investments would be strong, perhaps irresistible.

If this is indeed Mr. Bennett's strategy it is very dangerous.

In the first place, he has no assurance that the federal government will surrender to him. In the second, he certainly has no authority to negotiate a new Columbia River Treaty with the United States and a completely new treaty would be required for his purpose. Third, his plan to sell all the cheap downstream benefits of the Columbia to the United States, while British Columbia consumers are compelled to buy the more expensive power of the Peace and other distant rivers, is quite uneconomic.

But apart from all these specific obstacles to Mr. Bennett's reported policy it is ridiculous to suppose that the power problems of British Columbia can be satisfactorily settled by political warfare between Victoria and Ottawa. Before he launches into a vast and incalculable venture Mr. Bennett should find out the position of the federal government, should know in advance whether it will co-operate with him in permitting power exports or not. The federal government, on the other hand, should declare its policy without delay. Otherwise the people of British Columbia and the whole economic future of their province may fall between the two stools of federal and provincial policy. We cannot afford to embark on Mr. Bennett's program until we know where it will lead, what it will cost in money, in power rates and in the permanent alienation of a basic national resource.

'Bill' McAdam

PERHAPS NO MAN IN THE service of the province had ever identified himself more personally with his job than did the late Mr. W. A. McAdam, former agent-general for British Columbia in London.

The post he held has been occupied by competent men before and after his term. Yet to countless numbers "Bill" McAdam will always personify "Mr. British Columbia" in the British capital.

A sterling servant of the public, he possessed unique abilities to represent this province and to provide informed help where it was needed either to individuals or to industrial, business or cultural interests in the big city. His were the gifts of easy approach, friendliness, concern for people, diplomacy and a complete understanding of what his position implied.

"Bill" McAdam made B.C. House a home away from home for servicemen and civilians. He had time to help the bewildered visitor making his first trip to the metropolis. He had contacts which facilitated important business transactions for British Columbians.

Though he had retired three years ago, his image remained for throngs of people from this province as the friend who was so kind in London. They honor his memory now—the memory of a tall, energetic figure; urbane, a face with a ready smile, a voice with a pleasant quip, a man dedicated to the interests of the people he served. The tributes paid to him are echoed by thousands who, even after brief encounters, considered him a friend.

Japanese in Canada

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT is beginning to take a more realistic view of Japanese immigration. Mr. Diefenbaker's latest public statements, though cautiously worded, evidently mean that the government will consider the offer of Japanese companies to establish certain industries in Canada. For this purpose a few Japanese managers and technicians would have to be admitted as temporary or permanent residents. They should be.

No one is proposing, least of all the Japanese government, that large numbers of Japanese citizens should settle in Canada but the importation of Japanese money and skills would benefit our economy by employing our own people. Apart from a handful of managers and technicians, all the workers of the proposed industries would be Canadians.

Already, of course, Japan is employing thousands of Canadians, especially in British Columbia and on the prairies, by the purchase of our minerals, grain and other products. If Japanese interests would take some of our raw materials and process them here still more Canadians would be gainfully employed. We are glad to hear from Mr. Diefenbaker that his government is giving this opportunity its serious consideration.

The Frail Hope

AMONG THE MANY OPINIONS about Mr. Fleming's recent budget that of The Toronto Globe and Mail is especially interesting. This great newspaper, generally a strong supporter of the government, says that its budget "has not been well received."

Admittedly, the public expected too much from Mr. Fleming, in the way of tax relief and easy financial magic. The Globe and Mail says, but apart from this inevitable disappointment, the budget fails "to get to the root of Canada's economic difficulties" when it fails to deal with high taxes.

What the nation expected from Mr. Fleming, "The Globe and Mail believes," and what business must have if enterprise and investment are to experience strong revival, is positive assured relief from high costs, the kind of relief which Mr. Fleming and others in the present government used to advocate when in opposition. That is relief from high taxes which are imposed upon business at every stage and level and which pyramid costs. Such taxes as we have in Canada, and which Mr. Fleming's budget perpetuates, discourage research and expansion, make investors wary of risk enterprise.

For these and other reasons the budget may have been badly received but what chance is there for tax reduction, on business, or on individuals, when the government is planning its fifth huge deficit, of $650 millions this year and, by next spring, will have gone behind in its accounts by some $2 billions since it came to office in 1957?

The prospects in Canada are for higher, not lower taxes. Even if, by a miracle, Mr. Fleming or a successor should manage to reduce taxes some years hence, the provinces and municipalities would quickly take up this slack. Indeed, they are generally raising taxes already, long before there is any prospect of order in our federal finances.

HEMINGWAY APPRAISAL

'Experience Should Be Vivid, Real, Intense'—Joseph Alsop

THE luncheon was pretty wonderful, for Mary Hemingway knows about food, and it was gay and full of life, for everyone there liked both the same jokes and one another. But the best part of the day was the cockfights that followed.

Alsop
Even the arrival at the rickety little Cuban cockpit was an event of sorts, with its own procession, almost ritual character. Ernest led our small parade, unnumbered as was only fitting, with something of the air of being the host at a huge, exceptionally successful party. His pretty Irish secretary and the rest of us followed, bearing many wine bottles.

The country people can hardly have been Hemingway readers; but they seemed to know that a great man was living in their midst. Whole groups hurried to welcome him. An official of the little village offered his services as Hemingway's bookmaker for that afternoon. The climb to the reserved seats had the character of a major entrance. One expected the uncorking of the first wine-bottle to be greeted with general applause.

Accumulating Enjoyment

At this distance in time, it is not easy to disentangle the details of the evening hours. How can one ever tell, in truth, just what happened at a really good party? The essence of a good party, after all, is nothing but uninterrupted, steadily accumulating enjoyment; and this accumulation is really what happened.

Yet the long, hot, gloriously enjoyable afternoon had its own rhythm, nonetheless. The rhythm was imposed by the terrible but beautiful recurrent blood-drama of the cock fight. While the cocks were fighting, a strong, electric current of excitement gripped the whole audience. Both losers and winners, both those who were tensely silent and the majority who shouted their heads off, were then held in a kind of brief, temporary union.

In the intervals, the winners celebrated. New bets were placed on the next event. The wine bottles passed up and down among the people in our corner of the stands. And Ernest talked about the war in Spain, about the Cuban strains of fighting cocks; and about many other things, including even Gertrude Stein, a common friend, whom he could not quite forgive for regarding him as her own private invention.

As the afternoon wore on towards dusk, the party's gaiety mounted. The wine and winning the equivalent of $1.50 were too much for a fashionably bearded young Castroite soldier. Starting with the pretty Irish secretary, he embraced everyone in our corner of the stands; and then went out and spent all his winnings on bottles of beer to supplement the diminishing wine supply. The last fights were the best, and people climbed on other people's shoulders, in order to see a tall red cock, famous in the district, claim yet another victim in a flashing, cruel, breathlessly exciting combat. Then suddenly it was all over, and the party ended in an enormous round of enormously, quite genuinely affectionate farewells.

Everyone who knew Ernest Hemingway must have some familiar memory of a last party with him. The memories have a point at this moment, too. But the point is not that Ernest liked cock fighting as well as bull fighting; or that he also liked wine; or that he was a man whose love of life made him much loved by many sorts of people.

The point is, rather, that he cared so much about intensity of experience that he could conserve a curious intensity and memorableness even on a casual, almost accidental afternoon at a rustic Cuban cock pit. If one may make a guess about the inwardness of a great man and a great artist—always a dangerous thing to do, the key to Ernest Hemingway himself, and in some sense the key to his art as well, was his strong sense that all experience ought to be vivid and real and intense.

There was, perhaps, something a bit anachronistic in this feeling. The wish to experience intensely has become uncommon. Indeed, this wish has become all but antisocial in our security-minded, suburbanized, televised, homogenized, sanitized, endlessly bland era, when the most we ask for is togetherness at a backyard cook-out followed by forgetfulness with a Western on the tiny screen.

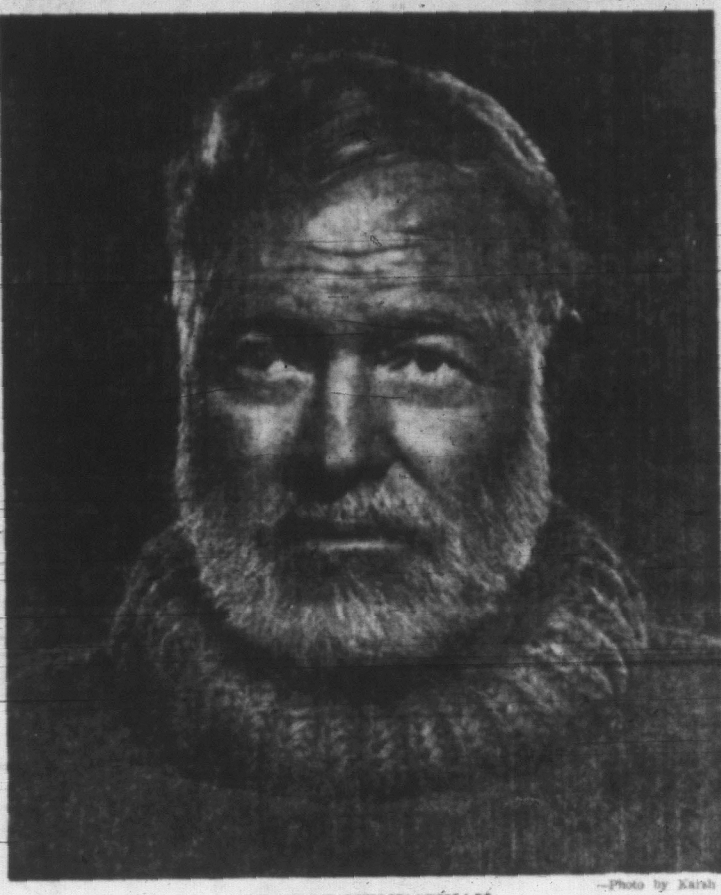

In a Bland Society

Who wants intense experience, nowadays, when all of life, or at least all of life for most respectable persons, comes pre-packaged, pre-cooked, and perhaps even pre-masticated, in neat plastic wrappings designed for the consumer's convenience, presenting no problems at all unless little children happen to put their heads in the pretty, left-over transparent bags?

A great change in the circumstances and the standards of our lives—the change one conceives so clearly if one reads Hemingway's pieces about his boyhood—is somehow underlined and emphasized by Hemingway's death.

In more than one way he was a heroic figure, and he believed in heroism as well as pleasure, as every man or woman must believe who wants the human experience to be intense. But do we believe in heroism any longer? Do we even believe in pleasure? Are they, perhaps, going out of fashion, with no one or Madison Avenue, to give them so much as a single singing commercial? The questions are nagging and troublesome, so they had better be forgotten.

ERNEST HEMINGWAY

'His Voice, Anguished Yet Undeclared'—Max Freedman

ERNEST HEMINGWAY once wrote of the native tradition "of the Colt or Smith and Wesson; those well constructed implements that end insomnia, terminate remorse, cure cancer, avoid bankruptcy and blast an exit from intolerable positions by the pressure of a finger; those admirable American instruments so easily carried, so sure of effect, so well designed to end the American dream when it becomes a nightmare, their only drawback the mess they leave for relatives to clean up."

But it was Hemingway who also said that "the world breaks everyone and afterward many are strong at the broken places." It would be wrong, and cheap, to think only of the last act and to forget the glory that filled Hemingway's life, a glory often won after a battle against pain and self-reproach, making him at last one of the symbols of our age.

There is something strangely impressive in the list drawn up by Mr. Philip Young of Hemingway's physical injuries. His skull was fractured at least once; he had suffered at least a dozen brain concussions; he had been in three dangerous automobile accidents; in the space of two days—he was in two airplane accidents; he had been shot through nine parts of the body and sustained six head wounds; in Italy in the First World War doctors removed 237 steel fragments from his body. All his days Hemingway honored courage as the master virtue and he was able to write of courage with such power because he knew so much about it in his own life. But only a careless or shallow reader will remember the violence of his stories and forget their tragedy. Most of his heroes fail; "no matter how, a man alone ain't got no bloody chance"; but they remain heroes because even in the act of failure they show "grace under pressure."

No Wasted Word

Ford Madox Ford, in talking about Hemingway's style, said the words "strike you, each one, as if they were pebbles fetched from a brook." With Hemingway, simplicity was the last achievement of art, never the first sign of genius. He worked on his manuscript until finally there was no wasted word and every word carried its full weight. He rewrote the last page of A Farewell to Arms 39 times and revised the manuscript of The Old Man and The Sea no less than 300 times before he sent it to the publisher.

Many critics have disliked his style. Mr. Leslie Fiedler, for example, has spoken of "a mannered and artificial stylized like Hemingway." Mr. Alfred Kazin, a friendly and generous critic, said Hemingway "had no basic relation to any prewar culture." Gertrude Stein knew better; she had the wrong phrase but the right idea when she said of Hemingway that "he looks like a modern and he smells of the museum." For few writers have ever studied the art of prose with more care and then struggled with such passionate honesty to speak with his own voice and not merely as an echo of the masters.

The artist often extinguished the scholar but he knew his own masters, and he was so far above the little dogmas of criticism that he could honor Mark Twain as well as Henry James. He had the secret of literature in him when he said that "some writers are only born to help another writer to write one sentence. But it cannot derive from or resemble a previous classic."

That is the best answer to the silly chatter about his "influence" on other writers. To the extent that he has been consciously imitated, his influence has been bad, for it is easier to imitate his mannerisms than his manner. The hardest, and the most important, lesson to learn from Hemingway is the supreme necessity of honesty; and no writer can gain that lesson by hearsay or by living in the afterglow of another man's triumphs. Hemingway always believed that a man who writes one dishonest sentence is forever defiled.

Mr. Maxwell Geismar spoke for many thoughtful readers when he criticized the limitations of Hemingway's philosophy. "We may wonder," he said, "how much of the facility, the lack of meaning in life which Hemingway summarized too eloquently, was not merely the product of his own inability to reach these meanings, but also of his sense that there was no purpose in reaching them. How much of the emptiness he saw before him in man's life was in fact the emptiness he felt behind him in his own life?"

Themes of Liberty

This wonder is deepened by our recollection that Hemingway, who thought it was "obscene" after the First World War to fight again for such causes as freedom and justice, found his spirit uplifted by the Spanish civil war which was no more than a brutal brawl in a distant land unless one invested that struggle with the causes that dominate the grand themes of human liberty.

He fled from America; he denounced it; but he always came back, no matter how long the years of absence. For Hemingway belonged to America, came from her earth, knew her sorrows and shared her joys, and gave to her his last gift, the enduring memory of his voice, sad yet vibrant, anguished yet undefeated.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

FROM WASHINGTON

AT the end of a very fair post-mortem on the Cuban failure, Mr. Stewart Alsop writes in the Saturday Evening Post that: "If the Communists are permitted indefinitely to retain their present monopoly of the techniques of the oblique thrust, the invasion by proxy, they will win in the end all over the world, as they are winning now in South-east Asia."

This raises, though it does not answer, the question which greatly troubles the country: in order to resist and repel the advance of communism, how far may we and should we go in fighting fire with fire—resorting, as Communists in fact do resort, to illegal means, such as the violation of treaties and of international law and of the Charter of the United Nations?

As the beginning of an answer, we may say that the basic rule is that intervention is lawful if it is done in support of an existing government, at the request of that government.

It would be lawful, for example, for the United States to put our whole army and air force in South Vietnam if President Diem asked for it. It is unlawful for the Soviet Union to give one rifle to a guerrilla fighter against President Diem's government.

I am using these extreme examples to emphasize two points. One is that within the law there is no theoretical limit on how much intervention is permissible to defend a government which asks to be defended. The second point is that the law forbids intervention to overthrow a government, which is why our venture in Cuba and why the Soviet venture in South Vietnam are both illegal.

If we look at the situation from the point of view of high policy, we must remember that under the rule of law intervention, unless it is requested by the lawful government, is forbidden, be it to promote revolution as in South Vietnam or to promote counter-revolution as in Cuba.

We should think two or three times before we declare, as some among us have been advocating, that in view of the illegal activities of the Communists, we are no longer bound by the rule of law, and that we are free to intervene when and where we choose.

They forget that in a revolutionary age like this one, the rule of law is the armor of conservatism, and to throw it away in a fit of frustration over Castro, would be to strip ourselves and our allies of their strongest defences.

The proof of how mighty is the rule of law, is that while the Soviet Union violates the rule of law and intervenes illegally, it never dares to defy the rule and to denounce it as a capitalist and reactionary device.

We are to follow the hot-blooded by adopting a policy of illegal intervention, we should be silenced when Moscow and Peking intervene. In abandoning the rule of law, which is at the very heart of Western freedom, we would have cast away our power to oppose revolutionary communism with anything except physical force.

But, we must ask ourselves, does loyalty to the rule of law mean that we must abandon all intelligence work? For almost all of it is contrary to the laws of the country which is spied upon.

The answer is no. The textbooks of international law which I have looked into are curiously silent about the fact known to all historians and observers of affairs that spying on each other and secret efforts to influence each other are the ancient and universal practices of great states.

There is in international relations a public world and there is also an underworld.

The relationship between the public world and the underworld—between the governments in office and the spies—has never been codified.

If we look at the situation from the point of view of high policy, we must remember that under the rule of law intervention, unless it is requested by the lawful government, is forbidden, be it to promote revolution as in South Vietnam or to promote counter-revolution as in Cuba.

We should think two or three times before we declare, as some among us have been advocating, that in view of the illegal activities of the Communists, we are no longer bound by the rule of law, and that we are free to intervene when and where we choose.

The writer of "Peeking Through the Bookings" wrote that he wished abstract artists the fame and fortune of Dali. Dali is receiving his greatest fame and fortune recently for his outstandingly beautiful Realism. Unreliable

Plans for CCF legislative members to attend the New Party Founding Convention at Ottawa from July 29 to Aug. 4 have been wrecked by Premier Bennett's summons to a special session Aug. 1. Reason for the special session is to consider the new federal-provincial tax proposals.

The session was expected to take place between September and December, ample time to settle the question of tax-sharing agreements. In fact, several MLAs had obtained assurances from the Premier that the assembly would not convene this summer. CCF members booked flights and hotel reservations in the expectation that the Premier's assurance could be relied upon.

We must get rid of unreliable leaders and governments, and learn to live honestly and peacefully together.

That Gentle Rain From Heaven

FOR the moment we're ahead of the weeds in a small part of our garden. This is an accomplishment achieved by unremitting toil and body contortions which leave the boss of our house and me like a couple of children engaged in a perpetual game of squat tag. We don't sit down to dinner. We sit up to it with a snapping and creaking of knee tendons in the process.

Stott

Briefly we have viewed the triumph of a relatively weed-free plot. We can now see the burgeoning potato plants, the thrusting rows of beets and the climbing green peas whose flowers nod at us in appreciation.

Because we have reached this happy, though transitory state garden-wise, as Sid would say, we approved of the rain. It helped to reduce our water bill to a point where it compared favorably with the Fleming budget. It also slaked the thirst of earth beyond sprinkler range so dry that even the couch grass was beginning to wither.

Doubtless it also encouraged the weeds to return. Certainly it filled out the horse-tails in the lower lot, giving them lush substance that will retain their status as the finest stand of their kind in the Western hemisphere. We're not too worried about that. Somebody in the house read somewhere that horsetails can be eaten as food in the event of an atomic bombing.

What was once an unqualified nuisance turns out to be a potentially valuable crop. Let the nuclear war start, and our fortune is made—and we'll be altruistically feeding the starving at a price. We can hardly wait. Meanwhile, we smiled fondly at the rain which droppeth like the quality of mercy. It prevented me from doing the paint jobs that have waited for several weeks and it gave me rest.

It would be pleasing to imagine that everyone shared my sentiments on the rain. The forestry officials did, and a whole crowd of gardeners.

Yet how could adults think that children, so recently out of school, might appreciate a little downpour. To them it must have been a lost day—a day denying them their ball games, their sunny hours at the beach, their prospect of comfortable swimming; at lakes.

I try to remember what we did, as kids, when rain came during vacation. In retrospect it doesn't seem so bad. We had books to read, if no television. And we, or most of us, had basements to play in.

Give us a good rainy day and we'd move downstairs, clasp on our roller skates and whirl around the cement floor between supporting posts with a great upstirring of dust. We might even work over a bench, if we were allowed, use of an adult's tools. Or, if we were in the chips, we could go to a moving picture show. Rain, in moderation, wasn't too bad. It saved us from labor in the raspberry canes and put an end to all sorts of unpleasant outdoor activity, like clipping the lawn edges.

Maybe today's small fry have similar activities to while away a day of precipitation. Eventually, though, they'll end up as we did, noses pressed to the window looking for a break in the sky.

I'll be doing that myself on rainy summer days—and enjoying it particularly if the clouds ensure continual downpours. And I'll be saying to myself, "All the work out there and not a chance of getting to it. Never had it so good."

Professional People Lead Exodus From South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)—South Africa is losing doctors, scientists, professors and lecturers at a rate that is causing concern in some quarters here.

The emigration movement, which began some years ago, gathered momentum after the Sharpeville disturbances in 1960 and again after the announcement of the country's withdrawal from the British Commonwealth.

Some of South Africa's most eminent professional and academic men either already have left or are leaving the country. Trained students also are going.

As South Africa's isolation increases, too, fewer skilled men from overseas are applying for jobs here.

The main reasons given for the increasing emigration are: South Africa's political future and its strict policy of apartheid.

2. Lack of funds for research at universities and, in some cases, relatively low salaries. Several university teachers have complained of "acute frustration".

3. Government control of universities. This particularly affects overseas teachers who might otherwise consider coming to South Africa.

Writing in a Capetown newspaper, C. K. G. Hahn, a member of the library staff at the University of Capetown, said: "My wife and I are leaving South Africa in December for Canada. I am relinquishing my home and a permanent and well-paid position at the University of Capetown, as is my wife."

"We have liquidated what securities we had at a substantial loss and forfeited the prospect of a reasonable pension in the future. We are going to an unknown country where we have no friends nor any idea where we shall get employment."

"Even now, we are haunted by the nostalgia of leaving our country."

"We are leaving to escape from the suffocation of unreality and hypocrisy which surrounds us all: the fear, persecution, propaganda, isolation and hatred which are twisting a once proud, sincere, forceful and just people into a petrified English-speaking bourgeoisie at the mercy now of the juggernaut of Afrikaner nationalism, and later, because there already is a critical shortage of doctors. South Africa, said The Journal, recently, the medical journal, needs 4,000 additional doctors by 1965.

Skill Needed for Solid Onions

There is an art and a science in producing solid onion bulbs.

The art lies in the gradual withdrawal of the soil from around the bulbs until they rest on the surface, anchored only by their roots.

During the period of growth when the bulbs are expanding, onions require plenty of water, coupled with a side dressing of 6-8-6 fertilizer in the first week of July.

By the last days of the month, the bulbs should be pretty well sized, and the ripening process started. From then on, no water should be given to onions. If heavy rain occurs during August there is the chance of them being spoiled for keeping over winter, since growth will start again and the previous ripening be defeated. Cloches come in handy for erecting over the crop in such conditions.

As the bulbs near maturity the green tops may be bent down to one side. They will be somewhat limp since no water will be given by that time. A week later the bulbs can be given a quick pull to one side to break some of the roots. A week later, a quick pull to the other side will sever most of the remaining roots.

By the end of August the onion bulbs should be ripened and ready to pull just ahead of the first rains.

Drying off in the sun for a few days will complete the ripening process. Take the onions in at night to prevent formation of moisture as the air chills.

Parking Plan Readied for Council Meet

The city's off-street parking commission has some definite policy recommendations to bring before the next meeting of council July 13, Mayor Percy Scourrah said today.

The commission has been studying proposals by outside interests to erect parking buildings in two downtown locations to relieve the strain now felt by the heavy ingress of motorists during the business day.

HOPES FOR RULING

"We met with our parking commission and certain recommendations will be brought to council," the mayor said.

"I'm hoping at the next meeting of council a decision will be reached. We are exploring every possible avenue we know to expedite off-street parking."

"I'm hoping we'll be able to move ahead right away," with a start on construction in the fall, Mr. Scourrah said.

DE GAULLE 'OUTRAGED' BY MIMIC

PARIS (Reuters)—Court officials said Wednesday the trial of a young Frenchman who put on a mask and mimicked President de Gaulle will take place in November.

Jean Lanauve de Tartas, 29-year-old pottery artist, is alleged to have driven up the Champs Elysees last week in the back of an open taxi wearing his mask and an officer's hat, waving to people and shouting: "I understand you, Frenchmen and French women."

He was charged with "outrage towards the head of state" and faces a possible year in jail and a fine of 200,000 francs ($40,000).

Squeeze-Box Band to Go Out of Doors

Music and fresh air is the theme behind the organization of Victoria Summer Accordion Band.

Formed recently by Ronald Berod, principal of Mackenzie Avenue elementary school and 34 of his pupils, the band will shortly move its rehearsal sessions out to Blinkhorn Lake, where Mr. Berod has built a pavilion on his property.

After several work-and-pleasure practices, the principal hopes the young accordionists will be proficient enough to perform in local parks and on radio.

The first rehearsal took place in the city Monday and was very encouraging, he said. Next practice will take place at 9 a.m. Thursday in the Woodworth Hall, Courtney Street.

Many of the youngsters, aged 9 to 15, played in the Mackenzie Avenue school band during the last term.

'Bumblin' Hotelman' Snarls Bitter Debate Over Coyne

OTTAWA (CP)—"How was your trip, Jack?"

CNR president Donald Gordon in September, 1952, to J.
W. Pickersgill (L.-Bonaville, Twillingate), then clerk of the cabinet, had its repercussions in the Commons Wednesday, nearly nine years after an incident in Winnipeg.

These repercussions came as a peculiar offshoot to the raging debate on the government's bill to sack James E.
Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker stepped into the debate for the first time and said the Liberals, after ridiculing the Bill of Rights last year, were using it as the cornerstone of their argument in demanding a Commons committee hearing for Mr. Coyne.

What "trial" he asked, had
Mr. Pickersgill given to Robert S. Pitt, replaced as manager of Winnipeg's Fort Garry Hotel in September, 1952, after Prime Minister St. Laurent had stayed there overnight?

Mr. Pickersgill said there was no truth in the charge he had had anything to do with any action taken by Mr. Gordon to remove Mr. Pitt as manager of the Fort Garry, Winnipeg's CNR-operated hotel.

Outside the Commons, he gave reporters a bundle of letters and memoranda dealing with the visit of several cabinet ministers and himself to Winnipeg in September, 1952.

A memorandum written by Mr. Pickersgill to Mr. St. Laurent—more than six months after the incident—related a series of Fort Garry mistakes in which Mr. Pickersgill's reservation was lost, Fisheries Minister Mayhew couldn't get a room, Mr. St.
Laurent wasn't met in the lobby, and the elevator taking the prime minister to his room went by his floor.

Some time after this incident, Mr. Pitt was transferred to the smaller CNR hotel in Brandon, Man. The affair became a hot issue in Parliament at that time.

Mr. Pitt is now manager of the Hotel Nova Scotian in Halifax.

Mr. Pickersgill said in his memorandum to Mr. St. Laurent that during a conversation on another subject with Mr.
Gordon some two weeks after the incident, the GNR president had asked him how the western trip had been.

Mr. Pickersgill related the sad tale to Mr. Gordon. But, he maintained in his memo, he didn't make any complaint about Mr. Pitt personally.

He was, Mr. Pickersgill, confessed, "somewhat annoyed."
It was the first time Mr.
Pickersgill, a civil servant in 1952, had given his version of the incident.

No sooner had he denied Wednesday that he had demanded Mr. Pitt's head than Mr. Diefenbaker accused him indirectly of writing or dictating part of the epistolary bombardment by Mr. Coyne against the government.

The embattled Mr. Pickers-gill, a favorite Commons target for the prime minister, heatedly denied this charge.

He said he had been de-famed by Mr. Diefenbaker.

The debate was adjourned at this point with no firm indication from the government on whether it would be resumed today.

Veterans Minister Churchill, government House leader, said merely that legislation would be the order of business for today.

Dief Joins Fray
The Coyne bill passed committee stage by a vote of 57 to 29 after nearly four hours of discussion, a lot of it charged with bitterness, invective and insult.

It was up for third and final reading when Mr. Diefenbaker entered the fray.

The most bitter stage of the debate involved a crossfire among Finance Minister Fleming, Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena) and J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood), a former cabinet minister.

Mr. Fleming accused Mr.
Coyne of trying to "hide behind" a decision of the bank's board of governors in February, 1960, to increase his pension to $25,000 a year from $12,000.

Defied Board

In a matter affecting his personal interest, the governor was prepared to stand behind the board, Mr. Fleming said.
But he had defied the board's request last month that he resign.

Mr. Howard said Mr. Fleming had "dirtied up the record" of the Commons.

He had "serious doubts about the veracity" of the minister.
Mr. Macdonnell said "certain deencies" of the Commons should be preserved. How could anyone dare accuse Mr.
Fleming of straying from the truth?

Mr. Howard said Mr. Fleming was the first to fail to observe these deencies. It was no wonder Mr. Macdonnell had resigned from the cabinet.

Contributed

He said Frederick Field of Vancouver, a government appointee to the board of directors of the Bank of Canada, contributed more than $20,000 to the campaign "slush" funds of External Affairs Minister Green, Douglas Jung (PC Vancouver Centre), Ernest
Broome (PC Vancouver South) and W. C. Henderson (PC Carbo).

There was no comment from the government side.

Opposition Leader Pearson, hoarse by the end of the wearying day, said Mr. Coyne's pension was set by the "Tory-appointed" board of directors of the bank.

The government and the board must take responsibility for the pension.

on myself by members of the government" and because the government persistently refused to let him appear before a parliamentary committee.

He said Mr. Fleming had told two Bank of Canada directors on June 2 that the government was going to bring in legislation to remove him—11 days before Mr. Coyne issued his statement rejecting the government's request for his resignation.

"By Mr. Fleming's record in this matter in the past it was clear that I was to be given no chance to appear before the high court of parliament, which was to be asked and indeed forced by the government majority to condemn me unheard."

Mr. Coyne said the prime minister's "contribution" to the Commons debate was to charge that his letters and statements issued in the dispute were dictated by J. W. Pickersgill (L-Bonaville-Twillington).

"Mr. Diefenbaker has been the evil genius behind this whole matter."

"It was his unbridled malice and vindictiveness which seized on the Bank of Canada's pension fund provisions with respect to the governor and deputy governor as a clever stick with which to beat me and intimidate me."

"If he had succeeded in getting me to resign meekly under such a threat, he would then have launched a smear campaign against me, which would have been represented as all the more damning because I had meekly resigned and admitted my error and guilt."

"Mr. Diefenbaker boasted about this in advance to some close friends. One of these was not so close as he thought."

He said the prime minister had argued Wednesday that his publication of letters and statements in the dispute meant that there had been no interference with my rights and obligations under the Bill of Rights or otherwise.

"This statement sounds very strange considering that other members of the government party have violently attacked me for having dared to say anything in public in relation to these matters."

Mr. Coyne said his statements and letters "were issued only in response to attacks on myself and threats of attacks ing when some of the municipalities involved decided they did not want to go into the electricity business.

Subsequently the government set up the publicly-owned power commission to undertake rural electrification. It then launched its own program of hydro development outside the lower mainland and Victoria areas.

Besides the bus system, B.C. Electric also operates 2,504 miles of gas mains for 118,731 customers. Eventually it had planned a Victoria-Nanaimo distributing system for natural gas to be delivered by Magna-Pipelines, which will build a pipeline from Ladner to the Island.

ASSENT BY SILENCE?

Meanwhile Victoria buzzed today with reaction to Wednesday's report that the big power takeover is planned by Premier Bennett at his Aug. 1 session.

Mr. Bennett, in Ottawa for the national Social Credit convention, again refused to deny the report, adding further strength to it.

He gave a straight "no comment" to reporters in Ottawa.

B.C. Electric officials did not deny it either.

An official statement said:

"What the provincial government will do on a number of different issues has been rumored and speculated about ever since the announcement of the August session of the House. Today's report does not seem to be much different from the earlier ones."

"One thing is certain, however. If there is any basis for this story, no advance notice of it has been communicated to the company."

Evidence Under Study

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker said today a "very definite statement" about Senator Henri Courtemanche will be issued after the justice department has studied evidence at a Montreal hospital investigation.

Diefenbaker told the Commons the evidence has been received but that Justice Minister Fulton had not been able to make a start on it because he was called away by the death of his mother in Kamloops, B.C.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Khrushchev announced the agreement at a Soviet-North Korean friendship meeting here attended by Marshal Kim Il-sung, who has been premier of North Korea since before the Korean War. Tass said Khrushchev told the meeting the coup by South Korea's armed forces in May has "raised the threat of the establishment there of an open Fascist military dictatorship."

OTTAWA-BOUND at end of July will be Commodore John Deane, RCN, superintendent at HMC Dockyard, who will become deputy chief of naval technical services.

WINNIPEG CONTRACTOR CHARGED

'Bird-Scare' Wire Kills Boy in Strawberry Patch

WINNIPEG (CP)—A coroner's jury Wednesday night found a Winnipeg electrical contractor negligent in constructing and installing a "bird-scare" wire in his yard which killed a neighbor's son, June 27.

The jury was inquiring into the death of six-year-old Douglas Porter, who was electrocuted when he touched the live wire in the strawberry patch of a neighbor.

William Alexander Latta, 45, in whose garden the bird-scare device was set up, has been charged with criminal negligence in connection with the boy's death. He has been remanded until July 12 without plea.

A municipal electrical inspector testified that he tested the copper wire device, shortly after the boy's death, and found that it carried 116 volts. He said birds would have to be wet to receive a "little shock" from the wire—unless they were touching the ground at the same time.

The inspector said the device did not conform with city electrical regulations and was "very dangerous".

A neighbor who found the boy's body said he wore only swimming trunks and was still wet from swimming in a pool in one of the yards nearby.

Mining High Spot of B.C. Economy

The border into Canada is difficult to tell as yet. However, a few more excerpts from the U.S. report should be of interest.

The NAPA goes on to say: "The word 'spot' is prevalent in many of the reports this month, indicating that a few segments of industry have not as yet hit the smooth pavement on the road to recovery; 43 per cent report new order improvement, down from 48 per cent last month; and 14 per cent report a worse new order situation, up from 11 per cent in May.

"Production looks about the same, with 45 per cent reporting improvement and 10 per cent reporting lower operating levels."

Remarks indicate that vacation strength, normal, summer slump, automobile model changeovers, and the shipping strike are having their expected dampening effect.

Comments from NAPA members also reveal "much concern" over disappearing profits on one hand and current price developments on the other.

There was a sizeable increase in the number of members reporting lower prices. During June the impact of lower price tags on various commodities, including certain steel items, appears to have thrown a block into price advances recorded since January.

On the up side in prices were brass and copper products; steel scrap; tin and molybdenum. On the down side were stainless steel strip, oil country pipe, rebars, kraft paper, fuel oil, burlap, resin and wire rope.

To mark its entry into the shoe polish field, Johnson's Wax sent a handsomely packaged assortment of its new products to business writers all across the nation.

It can be reported that the product was favorably received in this writer's office by various associates who happily verified the claims as to ease of application and high quality of the polish.

It can be further reported that said associates were suitably impressed with the novel packaging which, in the words of the accompanying press release, "overcomes traditional difficulties in opening, using and storing shoe care products."

In all honesty it should be reported that one very non-mechanical minded editorial writer had some difficulty in stripping the foil wrapping from a container of wax polish.

The Johnson Wax research people should look into this.

NO NIGHT SKULLDUGGERY

Weather Blamed For Ash Deposit

Weather conditions have resulted in heavier ash and cinder deposit on city streets recently, city smoke inspector Thomas Walker said today.

He commented on the city smoke abatement committee chairman's observation that certain industries are making more smoke after dark than in daylight.

"I don't think there's any difference," he said. "B.C. Forest Products run the same load at night as they do in the daytime, and they are the worst offenders," the inspector said.

IT GETS COLDER

However, with a soggy, damp night atmosphere, cinder and ash drop in a denser pattern and deposits are therefore more noticeable, he pointed out.

There is less wind and a temperature change at night, reducing the usual dissipation of fly ash.

Wind direction and atmospheric conditions have made the north Douglas motel area especially bad in the last week, and on two mornings in particular the overnight residue was unusually noticeable, Mr. Walker said.

He estimated it would cost B.C. Forest Products $35,000 to comply with the proposed smoke abatement bylaw, upon which finishing touches will be put in a special meeting at 2 p.m. Thursday.

MORE APPARATUS NEEDED

The firm already has smoke filtering apparatus—one of two in Victoria.

But its power-producing equipment bears a heavy load carrying the needs of both sawmill and plywood factory, and the smoke-apparatus must be augmented to keep pace.

One of the downtown laundries is making improvements which are aimed at reducing the ash nuisance and all laundries have equipment to monitor the amount of smoke being produced.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood had stated:

"We have had reports that some operators are abiding by the present regulations when it is daylight and at night they are letting it go. I got two complaints by telephone last night."

BYLAW READIED

Ald. Edgewood was unavailable for further comment today, but he will be back in the city in time to attend the special meeting Thursday.

A draft bylaw based on Vancouver's is being prepared by city solicitor T. P. O'Grady, and is designed to cut fly ash here by two-thirds.

Ald. Edgewood said the haste was due to public pressure. It is hoped to bring the bylaw before the next meeting of council July 13.

Penalty proposed for non-compliance is a maximum $250 a day, and other heavier fines compared with the present law.

U.S. Ready To Accept Mongolia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Kennedy administration was reported ready today to brave the wrath of Nationalist China and establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet-sponsored Mongolian People's Republic.

Official sources said preparations were being made to send a U.S. mission to the capital city of Ulan Bator to agree on the level of representation in each country.

The U.S. decision is expected to spark strong criticism from some congressmen, who back Nationalist China's contention that Communist Outer Mongolia is not an independent country but a Russian satellite or territory rightly belonging to the Chinese.

Drug Research 'Inadequate'

OTTAWA (CP)—A health department official testified Wednesday that he believes private industry makes only a small contribution to medical research in Canada.

Dr. L. B. Pett, the department's principal medical officer for research development, told the restrictive trade practices commission inquiring into the pharmaceutical drug industry:

"Medical research in Canada generally is most inadequate. My impression is that governmental support of medical research is greater than anything reported in industry."

General Strike Plans Abandoned

TORONTO (CP)—Union leaders Wednesday abandoned plans for a general building strike and asked workers on commercial construction projects to return to their jobs.

Crop Report Poor

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan wheat pool Wednesday reported that the crop condition figure for wheat in the province is the lowest recorded since 1937.

He said the rally had separated "the men from the rats" by showing those interested in unionism.

An emergency grant of 3,000 tons of yellow maize and 300 tons of dried milk was approved for Tanganyika by the United States in 1961.

His remarks came at a rally of some 11,000 construction workers, called by the Toronto Building Trades Council, a coordinating body of 22 construction unions. A similar meeting last week drew 16,000.

Victoria Ends Boxla Drought

Severson Stars
As Locals Post
Initial Victory

Victoria 9,
New Westminster 7
By DOUG PEDEN

Fred "Whitey" Severson first talked about calling it a career when he stepped in as coach of Victoria Shamrocks in 1956. That stay on the bench didn't last long and it is a matter of record that it has been an annual chore for the Vics to talk Whitey out of retirement plans.

Each time the effort has paid dividends and Severson will undoubtedly get another argument next spring.

Before the master playmaker steps out of the boxla spotlight he will almost certainly be the first to carve his name on a lofty, league milestone.

And if he continues his present point-collecting pace at New Westminster tonight, Whitey is liable to foul up plans for a "Whitey Severson night" next Wednesday at the Memorial Arena.

BIG GUN

Severson was the big gun as the Vics broke their winless streak at Memorial Arena on Wednesday night by slapping league-leading New Westminster 9-7.

Severson picked up two goals on three shots and earned three assists to run his career total in the ICLL to 998 points—450 goals and 548 assists—just two shy of the 1,000-point milestone.

"I'd like to break the record in Victoria," Severson said, "but I started in New Westminster and points for a team are more important than points for an individual."

It was in 1944 that Whitey, a 15-year-old whiz, earned a four-game tryout with New Westminster, Adams. Since then he has won the ICLL scoring crown three times and topped playmakers in four seasons. If he hadn't spent one season in the Ontario league, he would now be shooting for the 1,100-point mark.

VETERANS HOT

Wednesday was a great night for the Victoria veterans.

Ronnie Jay, the club's top scorer, fired three goals, Al Davies drilled a pair and goalie Gordie Johnston was a stand-out as he came up with his best effort of the campaign. Rookies Billy Gray and John Hanson collected the other Victoria tallies.

No-Royal City sniper was able to beat Johnston more than once and youthful Mike Gates paced the visitors in the point parade with three assists.

While seasoned warriors did the most damage on the firing line, you couldn't take a thing away from the Victoria rookies. Perhaps finally convinced that they "belong" in the inter-city loop, they played with a new confidence and determination.

Hustling all the way, the Vics fully deserved their win over the once-proven pace-setters, who have seen their former 11-point lead over Vancouver dwindle to a skimpy three. Checking fiercely and winning most of the early battles for loose balls, the Vics kept their rivals off balance and refused to panic when Westminster threatened to pull even early in the final quarter.

LATE FISTICUFFS

Victoria looked like a pepped-up club from the start. And the crowd of 1,275 paying customers can take credit for an assist. The fans gave the Victorians ovations at the end of the first and second quarters, which did wonders for the spirits, and boomed out a heartening round of applause at the end.

Behind 7-4 Westminster started the final 15 minutes with a rush and appeared likely to upset the Victoria apocryph when Harold Fox made it 7-5 with seven minutes remaining. But John Hanson finished off a neat play started by Walt Harris and Jay scampered around Don Sepka at 13:27 to sew it up for the Vics.

Wakeham Wins, Thanks to Putts

VANCOUVER—Bill Wakeham was in the quarter-finals of the B.C. amateur golf tournament today, and you could hear his sigh of relief almost in Victoria.

The 20-year-old Victoria shot-maker, a former winner of the Canadian junior championship, moved past Bob Doyle of Everett in Wednesday's play as Doyle three-putted from six feet on the 19th green.

Wakeham had earlier allowed Doyle to pull even when he three-putted the 17th. They split the 18th, but the soaked 19th green proved too much for Doyle.

The Everett player had upset co-medalist Frank Proctor on Tuesday.

Wakeham's opponent today was long-hitting John Russell of Vancouver, who advanced with a 6 and 5 victory over Greg Candlish. Candlish lost seven of the last eight holes after taking an early lead.

Other winners included Bob Plommer, Bob Kidd, Jack Ellis, Joe Jeroski, Bert Tieburt and Bill Kemp.

RAIN WASHES OUT TENNIS

Matches were scheduled to be resumed today in the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club's Pacific Regional junior tennis tournament.

Rain washed out Wednesday's matches, forcing the club to re-schedule the games for today.

Vampires Work

Vampires juvenile Canadian football club will stage a practice Friday at Lansdowne Junior High School starting at 7 p.m. Players between 16 and 19 are asked to attend.

LONDON (Reuters)—The British team for the Wightman Lawn Tennis Cup match against the United States in Chicago, Aug. 19 and 20, is Christine Truman, Ann Haydon, Angela Mortimer and Deirdre Cati.

TALK ABOUT YOUR EXCITED RACING CROWDS...

The horses are going the wrong way by North American racing rules but nobody seems to mind in Siena, Italy. More than 50,000 jammed the race course—which happens to be the town square—for the historic "palio," the race with no rules in which jockeys ride bareback and carry clubs. Horses represent the city's 17 districts and victory is celebrated for several days. Wonder what happens when they hit a red traffic light as they pound through the town?—(AP Wirephoto.)

LOOKS AT SPORTS

I don't know how busy psychologists are in Victoria these days. But if they happen to have any free time I would like to know...

● Why more than 2,000 people will pay to watch five female wrestlers slap, slug and spank each other:

● Why more than 1,200 people will pay to watch a keen, youthful but obviously outclassed Victoria lacrosse team give coach Arnold Ferguson indigestion by losing constantly:

● Why a standing-room-only crowd will pay to offer ecstatic homage to a collection of inanimate automobiles loaded with everything but mink-covered toilet seats; and:

● Why only 400 people will pay to watch a professional fight card featuring a fellow who has kept company with some of the best middleweights in the world.

Funeral Parlors Aren't Hurtin'

Quaint but logical reasons can be offered for those who follow steadfastly the fortunes of the Victoria lacrosse team.

They like legalized mayhem. Or else they derived an inverse delight in the possibility that Victoria might have gone through an entire season without winning. (Since this is written before Wednesday night's game you can be sure Victoria will make a fool out of somebody by winning their first game in 17 starts.)

The love affair between Victorians and rehabilitated autos can probably be laid to youthful desire for getting somewhere fast. This doesn't seem absolutely necessary.

Every time I read the news pages I notice that burial parlors seem to be doing a thriving business with people obsessed by horsepower mania.

My lack of enthusiasm for hot pistons stems from experience. Every time I had the feeling I was Stirling Moss, I invariably was joined by a blue-clothed gentleman who excelled in parting me from my money.

'Care for a (Scented) Bobby-Pin?'

The love of wrestling is an enigma. As a sport it falls somewhere between tiddlywinks and bingo. As vaudeville, it ranks behind the Three Stooges and the late, late show.

When the wrestling fraternity realized that male grapplers weren't spreading enough ham they spiced the product with girl and midget wrestlers. This provided a tonic at the turnstiles and gave the boys time to work on fresh histrionics calculated to win more admirers.

When they drop the "hero" and "villain" parts, wrestlers are interesting people. I recall a conversation with Gorgeous George, as he (she?) put it, initiated and scented bobby pins in his (her?) hair just before a performance.

He must have a strong stomach, I suggested, to take money from innocent people with his particular brand of hookum.

Gorgeous looked at me coldly. "When I was George Wagner," he said, adjusting a curl, "I nearly starved to death. As Gorgeous George, I laugh all the way to the bank. They (the customers) enjoy it and I enjoy it too. By the way, would you like one of my special gold bobby-pins?"

Now for professional boxing. Even without ink (which it received from Victoria's best afternoon newspaper), the Bert Smith-Archie Billy offering deserved more than 400 patrons. The supporting card contained a smattering of lightweights and heavyweights, even some unscheduled comedy. The latter came from Willie Townsend, a heavy-weight resplendent in white sneakers and a lack of talent.

Femmes Feigned Ferocity—Phooey

Al Curtis, a former Victoria Golden Gloves boy, gave things a home flavor. But none of these stood out as much as Bobby Boyd. His kind don't show in cities this size often.

He has ripped—and been ripped but not too often—some of the finest in his class. When he hits people they never have any doubt about it.

Away from the ring 20 months he showed signs of rustiness. But when he decided to get rid of Ernie Gibson, he did it with classic, lethal blows.

I am not prepared to buy—yet—the words of his wife, Lorraine, when she lifted his arm in the dressing room and said: "The next light-heavyweight champion of the world."

But I am amazed that a proven artist in his field—boxing, ballet or balloon-blowing—can be outdrawn five to one by five muscular females pulling one another's curls with feigned ferocity.

SHORT HOPS... The sparsely house failed to dim promoter Billyeu's sense of humor. Asked what happened to Ron Milne, Curtis' scheduled opponent, Billyeu said: "I don't know. He's in jail. And if no more people show up, I might join him. I need a rest after this." The break he may need if he is to get ahead in the business came suddenly for Curtis. The day after he beat Rudy Del Cambre, Roy Cannon, Boyd's manager, offered to take him under his wing and teach him the fine tricks of the trade. "I'm going to try and get him a job in Portland where he can work with Boyd regularly," said Cannon. "If we can smooth him out, he may make the grade. He has one thing in his favor—THE thing a fighter needs most—unlimited courage."

MARIS HITS 32ND

Reds Happy With Henry

Casey Stengel used to go into rhapsodies about southpaw Bill Henry, and Cincinnati manager Fred Hutchinson is about ready to join in and make it a duet.

"He's been like money in the bank to us," Hutchinson says. "Any time we've been in a hole, he has pulled us out."

The 33-year-old Henry performed his specialty again last night, stopping the San Francisco Giants cold with the bases full in the ninth inning to preserve a 3-2 victory that stretched the Reds' winning streak to five games and increased their National League lead to three games.

Henry, who has worked in four of Cincinnati's last six victories, took over in the ninth after Jim Brosnan had relieved winner Sherman Jones and forced in the Giants' second run by walking pitcher Jim Davenport.

STENDEL WANTED HIM

Working carefully, Henry ran the count to 3-and-2 on pinch-hitter Eddie Bressoud, then retired him on a routine fly ball to end the game. Home runs by Vada Pinson and Gordie Coleman helped send Mike McCormick down to his ninth defeat.

Henry, who led Cincy pitchers with 17 saves last season, first came to Stengel's attention when he hurled for the Boston Red Sox in 1952-53-54 and '55.

The former Yankee manager was irate when the Cubs gave up Henry to the Reds for Frank Thomas in December of 1959.

"They (the Cubs) told us they weren't gonna let him go," Casey steamed.

YANKS CLOSE IN

The St. Louis Cardinals routed the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, 9-1, and the Milwaukee Braves swept a two-night twin bill from the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4, in 12 innings and 4-0. The Pittsburgh-Chicago game was postponed because of rain.

In the American League, the second-place New York Yankees moved to within a half game of first place with a 6-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians. The first-place Detroit Tigers split with the Boston Red Sox, winning the opener, 6-2, and dropping the second game, 8-3. The Baltimore Orioles blanked the Washington Senators, 2-0; the Los Angeles Angels beat the Minnesota Twins, 6-2, and the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Chicago White Sox, 8-3, in a game limited to six innings by rain.

Roger Maris hit his 32nd homer to go 17 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace in the Yankees' triumph over the Indians.

SISTERS LIVELY FANS

A Battle of Prayers

BOSTON (UPI)—Pitcher Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers stood outside the Detroit dressing room and smiled at the chattering group of fans that surrounded him.

"I had a heck of a time out there," he said, "with only me to pray for myself and all of you praying against me." Bunning had faced heavy odds and won.

He was speaking to a score of the 700 nuns who watched the Red Sox play Detroit at Fenway Park Wednesday as guests of the Boston Club. They were escorted by Richard Cardinal Cushing.

Fenway Park has never seen a group of livelier fans. The Cardinal's pre-game recommendation, "root for the team but keep your seats, sisters" was all but forgotten after the first pitch.

They ate hot dogs, drank soft drinks and munched peanuts in between cheers and after the Tigers thumped the Sox 6-2 a small group trooped down to the dressing room where they talked with Bunning, the winning pitcher, slugging star Rocky Colavito and coach Tom Ferrick.

Ferrick passed out autographed baseballs to the sisters "even though you prayed for the other club." An autographed ball was even sent to the Pope through Rt. Rev. Umberto Dionosi, rector of St. Cecilia's Basilica, Rome, who accompanied the Cardinal.

"It's a good thing for them to get out from their daily routine," Cardinal Cushing said. "Besides, I think it's good for the community to see that the sisters are normal American girls who are as interested in sports as anyone else."

Junior Puck Likely Here

Support of a National Hockey League club for a junior "A" team in Victoria next season, appears almost assured today. All we need is a league.

Bye Bye BOGIES

Start Together

One of the most common errors in the backswing is raising the shoulders.

This is caused by picking up the club instead of swinging it. Raising the shoulders ruins the arc of the swing.

There is a tendency at the start of the backswing to take the club back with the left hand only, leaving the right hand and wrist in the shaft. The left hand must guide, but the right hand must work in coordination with it. If you will feel for the clubhead with the manipulative fingers of the right, you can achieve this.

You are going to use both hands at the ball; so they must start back together. In practice, it helps to try to heave an imaginary dandelion about 18 inches behind the ball. This will tend to give the swing a broader arc, giving the hands and clubhead more room.

The break in the wrists will come naturally and you will be in better position when you actually hit the ball if there has been no quick break. The backswing should be the first check point.

BOOSTERS COLLAR PONY TIARA; LIONS TRIUMPH

It's playoff time again for Victoria's minor baseball leagues, and despite the afternoon rain, two leagues set about naming champions Wednesday.

Boosters won the Layritz Pony League championship with a 7-2 victory over Builders as Gary Leck scattered seven hits in the last game of the season.

And Lions beat Merchants, 4-3, in the third game of a best-of-three series to win the

MEN BEHIND THE DERBY

Solarium Corner

His position with a city finance company made Bob Jones a natural choice to take over the duties of secretary-treasurer this year for the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

Bob's knowledge of figures and finances have also convinced him of the value of the Solarium Salmon Derby, and since moving into the executive of the VSIAA last year, he has been one of the hardest workers for the annual one-day fishing competition—co-sponsored by the anglers and the Daily Times.

Jones didn't need a second look to know that the more than $78,000 turned over to the Queen Alexandra Solarium since the derby was started in 1946 has meant a lot to the crippled children's hospital.

"I've always felt that the derby was a worthy effort," says Bob, "and after seeing the fine work I know that everything we can do for the youngsters is worth while. Every dollar raised by the derby goes to the Solarium."

This year's event is scheduled July 23 at Saanich Inlet, and Bob will be pleased to tell you how you can obtain a ticket or explain how the derby helps the Solarium if you call him at GR 9-6037.

Bill Majorki Paces Tigers

Bill Majorki's five goals made all the difference Tuesday as Saanich Tigers edged Victoria City, 16-13, in a Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association pee-wee match at Stevenson Park.

Scorers: Majorki, Majorki, Frank Alex, and J. Bob Handrade, 3, Greg Schreder, 2, Roy Birtwhistle, Dennis Sumner, Total—16.

Victoria City—Gerald Harvey, 3, Bruce Rosenberg, 2, Kim Martin, 2, Joe LaCrosse, Ben Flinner, Murray Bryant, George Green, Ricky Standford.

Mrs. R. A. Fortye Wins With Net 73

Mrs. R. A. Fortye won the women's monthly par competition at Victoria Golf Club Wednesday with a net 73.

"A" division winner of the bronze event was Mrs. C. Chapman, with a net 75. Mrs. R. Balis, who shot a net 73, won the "B" division, and Mrs. H. G. Ellis led the "C" division with a net 73.

Lions Look Good on Treadmill

(Special to the Times) COURTENAY — An inter-squad scrimmage is something like running on a treadmill; you work like the dickens and if you're good, you can stay in one place.

Just ask the B.C. Lions. (B.C.—Bedraggled Cats, as far as they're concerned.)

The Lions staged their first full-scale scrimmage of the current training session here Wednesday. (It pelted rain for much of the day, but they still staged their scrimmage.)

Jim Walden moved the ball 40 yards for a touchdown in six plays, clicking on a fine 10-yard pass to Pat Claridge for the score. The next time Walden moved 40 yards he did it in five plays.

Rookie quarterback Bob Schloredt tried his hand and started slowly, but threw 15 yards to By Bailey for a touchdown.

Sixteen passes were thrown. Fourteen were completed.

Veteran linebackers Vic Kristopaitis and Don Vico looked good. Big Pat Claridge was hauling down passes in his defensive end post like a net. By Bailey appeared dissatisfied enough with his recent status as a reserve full back to win a regular starting job once again.

In fact, the whole thing was pretty lively.

But what did it prove to coach Wayne Robinson? "It was terrible," he moaned. "It was awful. The boys weren't hitting. The holes weren't opening up. They forget everything we've been teaching them."

The offence didn't indicate a good offence to Robinson; it indicated a poor defence.

It's like running on a treadmill; the best thing to do is stay dead even.

Reds Bomb Radio Run by Priests

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Several persons were injured Tuesday night in a fight between Roman Catholic and Communist tin miners that broke out after a radio station operated by Canadian priests was bombed.

The battle took place near Siglo Veinte tin mine. The number of injured was not disclosed.

The bombs broke windows and blew in doors of the building.

A radio broadcast brought Roman Catholic workers to defend the residence and radio station against the Communists. The station, which is run by Rev. Jocelyn Grenier of Victorville, Que., broadcast a running account of the bombing and fight that followed.

In Montreal, Rev. Herman Morin said the radio station was built three years ago "to answer the need of the miners in the area who were serviced only by a Communist station."

"The Communists planned a similar attack about a month ago," Father Morin added, "but we were advised in time and 5,000 miners came to defend the station when Father Grenier appealed to them."

U.S. Doctors Oppose Kefauver Drug Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Estes Kefauver's senate anti-trust subcommittee today recalled doctors who oppose his proposal to put new government controls on the drug industry.

The Tennessee Democrat, fenced with American Medical Association witnesses Wednesday on the legislation, which Kefauver says will pull down the high cost of prescription drugs.

Dr. Hugh H. Hussey Jr., chairman of the AMA's board of trustees, raised Kefauver's hackles by placing the big medical association on record against giving the federal government authority to test the curing qualities or "efficacy" of new drugs.

Kefauver said giving this authority to the Food and Drug Administration will encourage brand name prescription and permit consumers to shop for the least costly brand.

But Hussey said tests of new products should be left to the pharmaceutical and medical professions. Even large-scale tests of a drug's curing qualities can at best determine what it can accomplish "in general" or "on the average," Hussey said.

Doctor Discards Blatant Drug Ads

OTTAWA (CP)—A prominent Ottawa doctor testified Wednesday, he threw out 75 per cent of promotional literature received from pharmaceutical drug companies, describing some of it as "blatant advertising" written in the same vein as ads for soaps and detergents.

Dr. Nathan Schecter told the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission inquiring into the pharmaceutical drug industry he also considered there was too much duplication of new drugs, too many promotional representatives sent out by companies and most drug samples are wasted.

J. W. T. Michel, commissioner of patents, expressed surprise that few new firms had taken advantage of compulsory licensing provisions enabling them to compete with patent holders in manufacturing new drugs.

Although there were some 500 patents for antibiotics alone, only 14 applications had been made for compulsory licensing by firms to produce patented drug processes.

Dr. Schecter said it would be desirable for doctors to prescribe drugs under their generic rather than company "brand" names.

He quoted a case where a tranquilizer cost $3 for 100 tablets under its generic name of meprobamate, and from $9.25 to $13.50 under various brand names for the same drug.

Many druggists were required by manufacturers to sell certain packaged drugs under prescription, for which a fee is charged, although the law does not always require a doctor's prescription.

Often it was merely a case of substituting the druggist's own label for the manufacturer's, he said.

Eichmann 'Head' Of Death Plan

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann reached into the SS files today to show that Hitler invented the plan to exterminate Europe's Jews.

But in the process the files branded Eichmann himself as the chosen "head" of the machinery that resulted in 6,000,000 deaths.

West German counsel Robert Servatius put Eichmann on the stand for the 13th and probably last day of the defence and made a bold move to cast all the blame for the Holocaust on the Fuehrer.

This was done through affidavits made at the Nuremberg trials by Maj. Konrad Morgan, a judge in the SS elite guard legal branch.

Servatius introduced the documents to the evidence section of Israeli Attorney General Gideon Hausner, who urged the three-man tribunal to accept them in toto.

HITLER BLAMED

Eichmann listened in rapt attention as the Morgan affidavit blamed Hitler, police commissar Christian Wirth, SS chief Heinrich Himmler and others.

Then a portion of the statement shifted to Eichmann. Morgan said as an SS judge he felt he had to act when he discovered the extermination plot and he tried to bring Eichmann before a special SS tribunal in 1944.

Morgan maintained that Eichmann was the head of the whole action, and repeated this once more in another section in which he said "Hitler ordered a system devised to spare the victims worry and pain and the man to head the action was Eichmann."

Vital Issue Being Ignored Saanich Candidate Charges

The issue of light industrial development for Saanich — to provide a taxation umbrella for burdened young taxpayers — will go unheeded by voters in a Saanich byelection Saturday, according to candidate Robert Ostler.

Other issues, he says, apparently will also be ignored in the lethargic midsummer election to fill a council vacancy left with the death of Ainslie Worthington.

Mr. Ostler complained Wednesday of the apathy toward the council contest, even though six men will compete for the seat.

NO GENERAL MEETING

He had hoped for all-candidate meetings to bring out discussion on issues vital to the sprawling, half-urban, half-rural municipality where taxes have climbed steadily in a few years.

Running the election are officials who seemed merely resigned to the job, Mr. Ostler said. He had been told by them there was a lack of interest by the candidates, and the campaign probably would not be of general interest because many people are away on holiday.

ENCOURAGEMENT NEEDED

It is his view that industrial development should be encouraged every way possible, but in control of council.

"It is vital that we make the decision within the next few months whether light industry should be encouraged to locate in Saanich."

The firms, many of them anxious to build in the municipality, cannot be rebuffed forever, Mr. Ostler said.

"A program of light industrial development for the municipality is our only hope of removing some of the burden of taxation from the property owner."

The many young families who are settling in Saanich should be able to look forward to a reduction in taxation in the future. If we have no light industry, the only alternative is still heavier taxation.

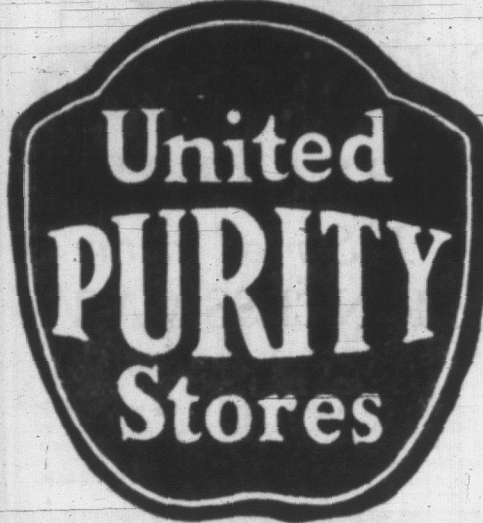

The 40-year-old candidate, a telephone technician and wartime air force veteran, is a native of Saanich.

His opponents are postal clerk Arnold Coey, lawyer Robert Chard, civil servant Charles Parker, and ex-candidates Stanley Eden, a salesman, and chauffeur Lionel Speller.

'Auspicious Time for Socreds'

OTTAWA (CP) — Social Credit governments in Alberta and British Columbia show effective translation of the party's politics into solid performance, B.C. Premier Bennett said Wednesday night. "No party ever presented itself to the people of Canada in such freedom from the bidding of big business, big welfare and big labor," he told a banquet sitting of the Social Credit national leadership convention.

He added in putting his weight behind the "on to Ottawa" theme of the convention: "No party ever came to the centre of the Canadian political stage at a more auspicious time, a time when all our people are yearning for an end to aimless drifting and a return to the dynamic leadership which alone can make our country grow and prosper once again.

"No party... ever offered to the voters such proof of its principles in the form of successful provincial governments, which, once elected, have never been defeated."

LONG IN POWER

Mr. Bennett noted that Social Credit has held Alberta since 1935. His own province had elected Social Credit since 1952 — longest in British Columbia history.

"This is a political force that is on the move," said Mr. Bennett, who followed up the keynote address earlier Wednesday by Premier Manning of Alberta.

Mr. Bennett repeated claims of British Columbia progress under his administration, including road construction, debt reduction, schools and dividends and increased welfare benefits.

A political vacuum exists today with the Liberals rushing toward socialism, the Progressive Conservatives discredited and the New Party speaking for just one segment of the economy, he said.

Only Social Credit could fill that vacuum and this message must be trumpeted through the country — action rather than promises.

Thieves Loot Tourist's Car

A total of over $900 in clothing and personal effects was taken from the car of a visiting American couple over the weekend while it was parked outside their motel.

The thief forced a ventilator window of the vehicle owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rose, Glenwood Springs, Colorado.

In another weekend break-in, a $75 car radio was taken from a vehicle owned by Allan McHugh, 435 Durban, while it was parked outside his home.

BIG GAINS SEEN IN COYNE AFFAIR

By GRAHAM TROTTER

OTTAWA (CP) — Veteran Social Credit strategists figure the current Coyne controversy will help their party win the next federal general election.

The party's platform is anchored on a revision of the country's monetary system. The Bank of Canada is the implement of Canadian monetary policy.

This is a pretty deep subject for most voters, or has been until now.

But the controversy over the Conservative government's bill in Parliament to fire the central bank's governor, James E. Coyne, has brought the bank and its functions into public focus as never before.

PARTY CONFIDENT

Social Crediters see nothing but good from this for their party. The more the voter debates the pros and cons of the Coyne issue, and inevitably gets deeper into what monetary policy is and what can be done, the better they'll be able to understand Social Credit theories in this field.

The future created by the Coyne issue to date has virtually guaranteed that this will be one of the main battlegrounds for the next election.

Social Credit strategists feel that in the past they may have been talking over many voters' heads on monetary theory, the supply of money. But now they think the Coyne issue is helping them hurdle this handicap.

One bogey they must overcome is the "funny money" tag put on the party by its critics.

In his keynote address to the convention Wednesday, Premier Manning of Alberta dwelt on this. He declared false the impression Social Credit is a "funny money" scheme that advocates the creation and distribution of unlimited quantities of printing-press money.

SUMS UP POLICY

Then he summed up Social Credit monetary theory this way:

"What Social Credit does propose is that consumer purchasing power be maintained at a level equal to the normal price value of our national production.

"This requires the controlled expansion of the nation's money and credit supply in direct ratio to the progressive increase in the volume of production technological progress makes possible and for which there is consumer demand.

"Only thus can the evil effects of both inflation and deflation be avoided and the soundness and value of the Canadian dollar be preserved."

The draft Social Credit platform which goes before the convention today makes abundantly clear that the party, if elected, would seek to implement this through a change in the role of the Bank of Canada.

It takes two pages of the draft program to spell out the party's financial policy — double the space given any other policy. Social Crediters are confident, though, that the Coyne issue will help them in getting the voter to understand and accept it.

JFK Moves to End Washington Color Bar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department called Washington real estate leaders to a meeting today in a move to curb housing discrimination against Negro diplomats in the United States capital.

President Kennedy's protocol chief, Angier Biddle Duke, termed the discrimination question urgent because "American relations with new countries are vitally affected by the treatment which their diplomats receive in Washington."

About 25 or 30 African diplomats' families were reported to have run into varying degrees of difficulty in getting living quarters there.

The number of African diplomats seeking living space here is expected to soar to 100 as new countries—wooded by both the United States and Russia—open their missions in Washington.

Washington is the only major city where Negroes form a majority of the population—33.9 per cent. Some housing segregation has been removed in recent years but much remains.

Five Drug Addicts Slash Wrists In Jail

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five drug addicts caused an uproar in city jail Wednesday when they slashed their wrists.

Police said one of the five slashed himself again after being returned from hospital where he received treatment. All injuries were minor.

They said they believed the five were attempting to get to hospital so they could escape.

Soldiers Stay Sanitary

OTTAWA, (CP)—The joys of the ol' swimmin' hole are not for Canada's soldiers.

The bacteriologists, epidemiologists, chemical analysts, hygiene experts and army works service armed with pumps, filters, hair catchers, chemical feed equipment, gauges, valves and vacuum cleaners have taken over.

Army Order 1309 which governs the "sanitary control of army indoor and outdoor pools and swimming areas" was amended recently. The new clauses include:

"The number of bathers in the pool enclosure at any one time shall not exceed one per 25 square feet of water surface area."

"All persons must take a cleansing shower bath in the nude, using warm water and soap, and thoroughly rinsing off all the soap suds, before entering the pool room or enclosure."

"Spitting, spouting of water, blowing the nose, etc., in the pool is strictly prohibited."

"No articles of food will be carried into the bathhouse or pool enclosure."

Hoffa Rides High

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A dues increase and broad new powers today helped James R. Hoffa consolidate control over the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Hoffa dealt his minority opposition a series of setbacks and cleared the way to a new five-year term as union president.

Hoffa scored his biggest triumph in gaining approval of a $12,000,000 annual dues increase at an all-day and night session of a special teamsters convention.

Hoffa rammed through the convention a 50-per-cent raise in his own salary to $75,000 a year from $50,000. It made him the highest paid union official in the United States. But he said he deserved it because he presided over the biggest U.S. labor organization with 1,700,000 members.

$20,000,000 YEARLY REVENUE

The dues increase would boost Hoffa's headquarters revenue to about $20,000,000 a year. It would raise member dues requirements by $1 a month. Dues vary from $3 to $6 a month.

Milton Liss, president of the Newark, N.J. Local 478 and Hoffa's only opponent for re-election, lost a series of convention floor battles to limit his program.

The convention shoved through new provisions to limit members in national union office and future conventions. These new rules require that candidates for national union office must serve at least two years in local office and that local officials must attend at least 50 per cent of local union meetings.

Hoffa obviously was in full charge of the 2,000 delegates as he called for decisions on a series of proposals that would build his union power.

Among other changes overwhelmingly approved was an extension of the union's jurisdiction to organize all workers in all fields.

The money is to be raised on short-term notes at not more than 6 per cent interest. The PGE has borrowed about $120,000,000 of the $180,000,000 authority granted under the PGE Construction Act.

Indian Beauty Robbed

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
A beautiful Indian girl came to Victoria today after being robbed in Vancouver.
"But I'm still glad I came to B.C.," laughed Dianne Smith-Miss Ojataro in a recent national beauty contest—as she walked off the ferry at Swartz Bay with 34 costumed Indians from Brantford, Ontario.
The lovely 22-year-old Miss Smith had her handbag stolen, soon after she arrived in Vancouver's Canadian National station Wednesday night.
"I put the bag down while I was being photographed," she said, "and somebody ran off with it. They found it later in another part of the station."
LEFT WITH CHANGE
"The odd thing is I had about $60 in it and the thief left me $20 in change."
In her white buckskin dress, trimmed with colorful beads, Miss Smith won most of the limelight as the visiting Indians came ashore.
Besides being Miss Ojataro, she was third-place winner of the Miss Canada contest last year and is a piece of actor Jay Silverheels, the Tonto of movie and television fame.
"I have an odd premonition I'll get the $40 back," the Mohawk girl said.
Her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jamieson, of the Cayuga tribe, are in charge of the visiting party which also comprises Indians of the Oneida, Tuscarora, Onondaga, Seneca and Mohawk tribes.
"There are about 6,000 of us on the Six Nations reserve at Brantford," said Mr. Jamieson.
The Indians are on a pilgrimage to the grave of poet laureate Pauline Johnson who was born near Brantford 100 years ago. They will attend a memorial service by her monument in Stanley Park on Saturday at 11 a.m.
Meantime they were received at Government House today by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes after being entertained to lunch by Mrs. W. C. Woodward, widow of a former lieutenant-governor of B.C.
FRIENDSHIP FIRMED
They were to be welcomed at the Legislative Buildings by Deputy Premier Eric Martin and taken on a tour of the provincial museum by anthropologist Wilson Duff.
At the Swartz Bay ferry terminal they were met by Mrs. Woodward and Chief Ed Underwood from East Saanich.
"Part of the object of our tour is to cement relationships with Indians on the West Coast," Mr. Jamieson said. "It is our first visit to B.C."
Miss Dianne Smith attended the Pauline Johnson High School at Brantford. She is said to be a talented pianist and a promising painter but modestly protested this tribute.
"Back home in Brantford we have schools, buildings and streets named after Pauline Johnson," the girl said. "She was one of the greatest Canadian poets and we are proud that she was born on our reserve."

HERE AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Welcome as a wasp in a marmalade factory was the man who phoned Government House every few minutes to ask if the vice-regal garden party was "on."
Each time the switchboard told him it was but he didn't seem convinced. Finally he said:
"Oh, so you're holding it inside."
"Outside."
"But that's impossible. You can't have it outside in this weather—it's going to rain all afternoon."
But they could and it didn't.
The man should be bigger than the job.
This was a favorite dictum of W. A. (Bill) McAdam, who signed off Tuesday night after years of service as B.C. agent-general in London.
Bill practised what he preached. He put up with servicemen who talked too much because they had drunk too much—and made room for them at B.C. House.
During the Blitz on London a Vancouver woman told him she had lost the baby's feeding bottle and could not get another. Bill went to endless trouble to find a replacement and succeeded.
He is mourned by the many who know that he did far more than was ever required of him.
Wally Fletcher, historian at Craigflower Manor, tells me 119 persons (a record) visited these ancient premises last Sunday, many of them from the United States.
What did they find the most interesting? Well, there is an illuminating diary left by Robert Melrose who worked on the Craigflower Manor farm just 108 years ago.
On July 6, 1853, Mr. Melrose recorded that a certain James Whyte was half-drunk while he (Robert Melrose) was quarter-drunk.
How did Robert determine these fractions of drunkenness?
From Victoria Public Library the Dickens Fellowship, Victoria branch, has received a number of etchings attributed to Cruikshank—the artist who illustrated Dickens' earlier works.
Some of them are hard to identify with Dickens characters, so Mrs. Dorothy Hewitt White, secretary, will hold a "quiz" on them at the Fellowship garden party on July 15.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A substantial reduction will be effected on air parcel post starting Sept. 1, the post office department announced today.
The cut, first in eight years, will affect both Canadian and overseas parcel airmail.
Savings will vary with parcels' weight and mailing distance.
Savings quoted are: 75c on 10 pounds from here to Vancouver, 15c on a pound to England, and 30c on a pound to Germany.
First of a series of summer concerts sponsored by the Victoria city parks board and the Musicians' Union, will be presented at 3 p.m., Sunday, at the Cameron Memorial Pavilion.
It will feature Fred Usher and his Hometowners and Betts and her Buddies. Other concerts will feature band music, variety shows and guest vocalists.
Economic repairs to cracked, heaving sidewalks are being undertaken by city works men using asphalt with a light concrete wash to harden the surface and make the walks resemble older concrete work.
Three blocks are being done between Menzies and St. Lawrence on Superior. A previous job was done on Johnson between Douglas and Broad at a cost of about $3 a lineal foot, compared with $7.50 for new concrete.
Johnson Street Bridge repairs are complete and painting is expected to be finished overnight, allowing normal operation of the lift span from Friday morning.
Tonight from 8 p.m. to dawn, as on the past three nights, workmen will close the bridge to traffic while making annual maintenance repairs.

PARKS BRANCH VIEW

No General Protest At Campsite Fees

Campers at Miracle Beach are alone in their protest against imposition of a fee of $2 per day for campsites held more than two days, a parks branch spokesman said today.
Attendance at the big 200-site park north of Courtenay is about 50 per cent, he said, but the weather is blamed for most of the vacancies.
PAY IN ADVANCE
"The other camps where the fee is charged—Shuswap, Cultus Lake, and Okanagan—report normal attendance," he said. "One park ranger said he had people pay in advance for their stays in the park."
The Miracle Beach protest started Monday, when a number of campers refused to move or to pay the $2 per day fee. No action was taken at the time, but the parks branch started action to give its ranger authority to have persons who do not pay evicted from the parks.
One Victoria camper who refused to let his name be used was vociferous in his support of the government policy.
WEEKENDS ONLY
"I've seen people who put their tents up early in the summer at Cultus Lake, near Chilliwack, then occupy them only on weekends," he said. "No one else could use the site during the week."
"Right now Victoria people are camping at Goldstream and commuting to work every day. That doesn't help the travelling camper, and I've heard the park is full. I think you'll find the average person is in favor of the $2 fee."

RETARDED TOTS CALL FOR HELP

The Greater Victoria Association for Retarded Children needs 300 tag sellers July 15 to raise funds to help continue six years of work with Victoria's retarded children.
The association reports great progress in its service, but also great rise in its expense.
It now reports a monthly expenditure of $2,000, and must continue attempts to enlist financial aid.
Dr. Richardson, professor of special education at UBC, helped organize the association.
Financial grants from the United Commercial Travelers, the Independent Order of Foresters, and other interested organizations and individuals have helped greatly, the association reports.
The association has progressed from small classes in the basement of St. Barnabas Church into classes run by School District No. 61, and by the association itself in its Elford Occupation Centre at 1450 Elford Street.
Those able to help in the annual tag day July 15 are asked to call Mrs. N. E. Winter at EV 3-9767, or to come to the headquarters at the Knights of Pythias Hall on Cormorant Street July 15.

Verbal Fight On Ross Bay Rages Anew

Both sides of a controversy over Ross Bay Cemetery redevelopment fired replies today as a parks board meeting to deal with the proposal was announced for Monday.
To improve the burial place and make upkeep of the 100-year-old plots more practical, Ald. Millard Mooney proposed levelling the ornate stone and concrete monuments to create a parklike atmosphere.
James Nesbitt, newspaperman and historian, accused the aldermen of "bone-rattling" and "tampering" with historic graves of such men as Sir James Douglas, Thomas Harris, Sir Matthew Baillie Begg and James Dunsmuir.
WHO WOULD PAY?
He said people with ancestors in the cemetery should subscribe to a fund for replacing fallen stones and improving the general appearance.
Ald. Mooney said he doubted there would be enough money realized this way to do much.
"Maybe he's right," Mr. Nesbitt replied. "But I'd make a contribution to start it off."
Mr. Nesbitt quoted Joseph Howe, early Canadian statesman and writer, who said: "A wise nation preserves its records, gathers up its monuments, decorates the tombs of its illustrious dead, repairs its great public structures and fosters national pride and love of country by perpetual reference to sacrifices and glories of the past."

Two-Way Crash On Sooke Bridge

Heavy rain Wednesday and the tricky Sooke River bridge combined with two vehicles in an accident that backed traffic up in both directions on the Sooke road for half an hour.
RCMP said a British Columbia Electric Company truck driven east by Robert Walker, 421 Vincent, stopped on the bridge at about 2:45 p.m. and collided with a westbound car driven by Edward James Balback, Sooke.
The front of the car hit the truck and the rear slewed to one side blocking the 16-foot right-of-way.
There were no injuries but damage to the truck was estimated at $400 and to the car about $800.

NEARBY STORM RULING 'Retail' CITY WEATHER PATTERN Of Power Necessary

A storm lurking offshore from Victoria continues to have the authority over the city's weather, according to weatherman William Mackie.
"It's still a shaky situation, but there are a few bits of hope," he said. "If the storm is not too active we can expect a few holes in the clouds this afternoon, and there still is the chance of an isolated shower in the evening."
Friday will be cloudy in the morning, with the sun breaking through in the afternoon, but there is more trouble in sight which indicates showers for Saturday.
Total rainfall for Wednesday was .66 inch, Mr. Mackie said. Vancouver had 1.41 inch during the 24-hour period to set a new record for July.

TOO MODEST? City Tourist Leaders Want More Effort

By HAL JONES
Is Victoria doing enough in the way of advertising to bring tourists here?
And if so, is there enough being done locally to keep them happy when they get here?
How do Victoria's efforts compare with those of Vancouver, which is holding a lively Tourist Week at present.
Three prominent people in the tourist industry were asked these questions today and answered as follows:
All three—William Hawkins, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau; John Coppinger, manager of Victoria Chamber of Commerce; and Sam Lane, chairman of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island tourist committee—agreed a lot more can be done to bring the visitors here.
MONEY THE PROBLEM
"It's not a lack of ideas but rather a shortage of money," said Mr. Coppinger. "And the people who contribute least are usually the ones who stand to gain most."
There are exceptions of course," he added hastily.
All three agreed again that not enough is being done to keep Mr. and Mrs. Canada and Mr. and Mrs. America happy once they get here.
"We are doing more to keep the visitors here than Vancouver is doing but there is a lot of apathy about directing visitors to all the places of interest here," said Mr. Lane.
"SOFT-SELL" WANTED
However, Vancouver is going about it "the hard way," he said, and he prefers the "soft-sell" approach for Victoria.
"I don't think we are doing as much internally to look after the tourists as Vancouver," said Mr. Hawkins.
Mr. Coppinger thought people engaged in the tourist business are "missing out on a good thing" by not spending much time in personal contacts.
"I don't think our accommodation people are doing enough to tell visitors what is going on so that they will stay."

'Improved' Golden Hawk Show Aug. 12

Victoria will witness "improved" aerial spectacles when the RCAF "Golden Hawks" and the air ace, the "Red Knight," appear over Beacon Hill Park the afternoon of Aug. 12, the air force reports.
The "Golden Hawks" Sabre jets will perform "thrilling manoeuvres consisting of rolls, loops, crossovers, bomb bursts and high-speed, low-level flypasts," the RCAF says.
The 30-minute show will be complemented by the famed performances of the "Red Knight" in a bright red T-33 jet trainer.

WANTON BOYS RAVAGE BURIAL GROUND

Loss to Anthropologists As Indian Relics Ruined

By HUMPHREY DAVY
Groups of boys on the rampage over the past two weeks have all but destroyed an historic Indian burial ground on Coffin Island in Victoria Harbor, at the foot of Robert Street.
They have removed bones, skeletons and trinkets, such as beads, bracelets and pieces of cloth from the old burial ground which once served Songhees bands in the area.
Don Abbott, provincial anthropologist, said the cemetery is practically ruined.
ESQUIMALT NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS
Assiniboine, Skeena, Margaree, return 11 a.m. July 13.
Sussexvale, Ste. Therese, Antigonish, Beacon Hill, New Glasgow, return July 14.
"It's against the law to damage or to remove anything from an Indian cemetery," he said.
It all started two weeks ago when a group of boys building a fort on the island found some bones. They started digging and unearthed skeletons, including trinkets buried with the dead many years ago.
When word got around of the find, other groups of boys converged on the island in search of bones and relics.
Mr. Abbott said most of the relics, trinkets obtained in barter for furs, were turned over to the museum. They are of little value.
Indians used the cemetery during the 19th century. It was the practice and custom then to leave the bodies of the dead to weather in the open in plain wooden boxes.
With time the skeletons and bones sank into the ground or were covered with vegetation.
In 1889 a grass fire destroyed hundreds of boxes and "cremated" many of the bodies. A few years later, the natives stopped using the island as a cemetery.

ASK THE TIMES

Q — Where is the Street called Straight? A.J.C.
A — The Street called Straight is in Damascus, capital of Syria, and believed to be the oldest continuously inhabited city in the world. The Street called Straight runs from the eastern to the western gate of the city, and is covered over like a long tunnel. It is also ancient, being mentioned in Biblical and other writings more than two thousand years old, and is still in use.
Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and Answers, will be published daily.
All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to answer conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or postcards. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Rain Fails to Dampen Happiest Party of All

By PAT DUFOUR and ANNE MAYHEW

The rains punched the pavements, bouncing down from leaden skies. All Victoria was in a tizzy on Wednesday morning. Would there or would there not be a Government House garden party? Phones rang all over the city trying to find the answer.

Government House phones were kept busy assuring worried guests that the party would go on regardless. Said one official in the middle of a particularly busy downpour:

"The garden party will still be held outside—we expect it will clear by then." He confessed that the "switchboard was lit up like a Christmas tree" most of the morning.

Sure enough, with a few modifications and a great many additions in wearing apparel, the party was held.

ONE CONCESSION

Sharp at 4 p.m., His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes came out to greet their guests. The only concession Mrs. Pearkes made to the persistent rain was a brown velvet all-weather coat that she wore over a silk print gown whose yellow tones were repeated in her swathed hat.

His Honor, dressed in frock coat, pin-stripe trousers and top hat, had a yellow-toned rose in his lapel.

"The rose, he confided, he'd 'picked from a vase on my way out.'"

Twenty-five hundred hand shakes and 90 minutes later, they were free to mingle with their guests and enjoy their garden party at Government House.

There was a special chuckle from His Honor as he greeted Archbishop Harold E. Sexton with, "We knew we could rely on you to come!"

QUICK-CHANGE ARTISTS

This turned out to be one of the most exciting garden parties in history. Women were kept in a continual whirl of activity slipping on plastic rain hats, taking off galoshes, putting them on again, opening and closing umbrellas as the rain switched on and off like a kitchen faucet.

One woman solved the problem by donning sun glasses and keeping her umbrella "at the ready" on her arm. Many a brave guest wore heady concoctions of the air—least tulle and net, some even dared to risk ruining satin shoes, dyed to match their ensembles.

One exquisitely dressed woman dragged her stiletto heels out of the soggy grass for the umpteenth time and said consolingly, "At least they tell me that it's good for the lawn." All the while, she was casting an envious eye at a neighbor who strode confidently along, her feet secure in tightly lashed plastic boots.

There were some that cast discretion to the winds and spent the coldish afternoon in sundresses although, "goose pimples" seemed to complement their ensembles in hardly any time at all.

In contrast, one woman guest was seen in a sturdy trench coat, winter hat and galoshes.

"Oh look, there's a hat like a soufflé!" brought attention to one of many fluffy creations that had succumbed to the rain.

The college set dressed wisely. Over many an attractive summer ensemble was tossed the indispensable campus coat.

Life was made unpredictable for the reporter. On adding to the material of an especially chic raincoat it was disconcerting to be told, "Actually, it's made out of an old chestfield cover."

SNEAKERS AND SWEATER

Men guests provided just as much variety. There were frock coats, business suits, blazers, kilts, yachting gear and two young men who came sporting sneakers and tennis sweaters.

Don Fleming of the Corinthian Yacht Club, Seattle was there for his first garden party with another club member, Ed Rounds.

Said Don: "This is really something. What's a little rain in such magnificent surroundings. I've never seen such beautiful trees, beautiful grounds and beautiful girls!"

He felt that Seattle should try to imitate in the staging of such an affair. "But I guess we would have to slow down a bit to put on something so impressive."

Talking together under tree-covered driveway were Mr. and Mrs. W. Gilmour, who moved recently to Vancouver, Mrs. C. B. Macdonell and Dr. J. V. Fisher. Mrs. Gilmour was charming in a grey and white print gown of polished cotton highlighted with black cummerbund and sash, and a deep pink flowered hat and gloves. A delicately shaded pink and grey umbrella completed her ensemble. A blue-pleated silk gown, blue flowered hat and many-stranded necklace of Italian seed pearls was chosen by Mrs. Macdonell. White plastic overshoes were her only salute to the weather.

An imported Danish knit suit of a taupe color was selected by Mrs. Spilsbury for the occasion, with fur jacket and straw chapeau on tone. Mrs. Jaggs was wearing a pale turquoise blue ensemble highlighted with eye-catching high-crowned hat of blue chiffon and net, caught at brim with small cluster flowers.

Mrs. R. A. Heron, who is spending the summer in Victoria, was at the party with her daughter, Mrs. S. B. Gillespie of Honolulu. Mrs. Heron chose a white and black print gown complemented with matching flowered hat, and a gold and pearl knobbed umbrella in white.

SUMMERY STYLES

Mrs. Gillespie wore a white linen suit with flowered blue collar and white draped hat. Also in the group was Mrs. G. M. Duncan, who was charming in a mauve flowered chiffon gown, matching hat, and oyster-toned ribbed duster coat.

Mrs. Walter Eckman was lovely in a pale turquoise linen duster coat over a flowered polka cotton gown in blue tones. Her Italian-style w chapeau was highlighted with large opalescent sequins. She spent the afternoon slipping in and out of a mauve plastic raincoat and pithie hat.

Over from Vancouver for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Draeske. Mr. Draeske held a bright yellow umbrella over his wife, who was gowned in a green and blue flowered ensemble of chiffon over silk.

Her tiered hat was of pink pleated chiffon.

Walking together at the party were Miss Sadie Fraser, Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson and Hon. R. W. Mayhew. Miss Fraser was caught donning a rainhat to protect a navy turbaned chapeau topped with pink and white flowers.

Later Miss Fraser joined Mrs. R. H. Palmer, who was wearing a charming gown of black peau de sole and black hat covered with shocking pink flowers. A black satin finished umbrella completed her outfit.

Mrs. D. J. Hunter, Mrs. R. H. Spilsbury and Mrs. C. W. Jaggs, Vancouver, were seen chatting together. Mrs. Hunter wore a wool crepe gown in raspberry tones styled with dramatic side drape. Her fashionable "brodie" was of a warm beige which shaded to raspberry at the top.

Perhaps it was the threat of being washed out—perhaps the versatility called upon in dealing with weather that was to put it mildly, a little unkind. Whatever the reason, there's no doubt that the 1951 garden party was the best yet.

Guests had to face the fact that one can never beat the weather—but learn to live with it gracefully. And they did.

And the attempt brought smiles to every face for loganberries and ice cream, a pud-dled lawn and winter woolies do not make for tepid formality.

DEAR ABBY...

It's An Ancient Twist

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I met a man on a bus. He was very polite and well-dressed. Maybe I should tell you I am 16, but look older. This man said he was a talent scout and he thought he could get me in the movies. He asked me to go up to his hotel room to read over the contract, but I didn't have time because I was supposed to meet my mother downtown.

He gave me his name and telephone number, and told me to call him. He asked me not to tell my parents about meeting him. I don't want to pass up a chance to get into the movies, but I have never done anything behind my parents' back. What should I do?

SIXTEEN.

DEAR SIXTEEN: Don't call this man. He's as phony as a paper moon. His "talent scout" line went out with celluloid collars. Tell your parents about him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married a very short time and have been told that I am wearing my rings backwards. I wear my engagement ring first because I was engaged first. Then, right next to it, I wear my wedding ring. People have told me that it should be the other way round. I still think I'm right, but I would like to be sure.

JUST MARRIED. DEAR JUST: The wedding ring should be placed on the finger first (closer to the heart), and the engagement ring is worn next to it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband runs a gasoline station. He is known as the softest touch in town. He gives credit to all the deadbeats. When they have cash, they come where else.

When the cash register rings, it is a NO SALE because he is in there getting a dollar to give someone who hands him a hard luck story. We are far from rich, but as long as he has a dime, he'll give somebody who has nothing a nickel. At this rate we will never have anything. How can I convince this big-hearted luncheon to realize that he is a fool?

FOOL'S WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: Your "big-hearted luncheon" may be overdoing things, and a reminder that his big heart could break him may be in order. But a man who will split his dime with another who has nothing is not a "fool," and you could learn from him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. S.W.: Your son sounds like the kind of man who sows his wild oats six days a week... then goes to church on Sunday to pray for a crop failure. Don't count on teaching a 44-year-old dog new tricks.

What's bothering you? For a personal reply, write to Abby, 205 Park Road, Burlingame, Calif. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

What's a little rain when you have the chance of shaking the hands of His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes at their first official garden party in Government House? Lines like this wound down the driveway for a full 90 minutes during yesterday's gathering.

Politics on the city and provincial level are both represented in this happy group. Mr. J. H. Rhodes, left, MLA for the Delta riding, and Mrs. Rhodes agree with Mayor and Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah that, in spite of the weather, Wednesday's garden party lacked none of the ingredients that make up a really successful function.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morgan chat with aide, Lt. Cmdr. H. H. W. Plant. For Mrs. Morgan, daughter of Mrs. W. C. Woodward and the late Hon. W. C. Woodward, former lieutenant-governor, it was just like going "home" for a brief afternoon.

Women

Victoria Daily Times THURS., JULY 6, 1961 19

Mrs. Lillian Cousen came thoroughly prepared for whatever the weather man might send. And, says Mrs. Cousen, "It was well worth it, the Pearkes are such a charming couple."

GARDEN PARTY OF THE YEAR

"Whatever the weather—I'm ready!"

Rain or no rain—a party's a party seems to sum up the thinking of these three attractive matrons, all from Vancouver. Seen, left to right, are Mrs. Jack Taylor, Mrs. John Frazee and Mrs. James A. Sutherland.

Vancouverites boosted air and ferry traffic as they flocked to the Island to attend the province's most important garden party. Thoroughly enjoying the friendly get-together are, left to right, Mrs. Nicholas Goldsmid, art-director of the Vancouver Festival; Mayor Thomas Alsbury and Mrs. Alsbury, Brig. Alasdair Maclean and Mrs. Maclean and Pipe Major Ed Esson.

Victoria's younger set were well represented at the gala affair. Seen enjoying a sunny interlude are Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Anderson, Miss Allene Spilsbury, Mr. Eric Clarke, Miss Vicky Hubbard and Mr. Dick Hubbard of Vancouver. One of the men attempted to stash his umbrella out of the picture, but it still shows, sign of rainy interlude to come.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT
 By EARL WILSON

STOCKHOLM - The Swedes, they are a funny race - I'd love them even without Ingrid Bergman and Anita Ekberg.

The unmarried girls of Sweden have a quaint custom which they practice on Midsummer's Night - exactly this time of year.

It's supposed to bring luck in husband-hunting. The unmarried girls are supposed to place seven different kinds of flowers under their pillows that night. Then they're supposed to dream of their future husbands. Having pictured him in their dreams, they're supposed to go out and nail him.

The E.W. and I on this fast swing through Europe find the delightful Swedes are one people who try to make you laugh.

NO TENSION

I wanted to find out whether these European countries are tensed up and nervous about Mr. K's threats. The Swedes aren't.

They even published a small book, "What the Swedes Smile At," featuring the work of cartoonist Torvald Gablin, for those who read English.

"If women's intuition is all that good, why do they ask so many questions," is one of Gablin's stories.

ISLAND DIGEST

Health Centre Contract Let

DUNCAN — William Burak, local builder, has been awarded a $47,533 contract for construction of the new health centre here.

The two-storey concrete structure, to be built on Cambridge Avenue, will include seven nurses' offices, an X-ray room, therapy and playroom, library and storage space.

Excavation has started. The sponsor of the project is the Duncan Kinsmen Club, which conducted the drive for funds for the building. The Rotary Club here recently voted $1,000 toward furnishing of one of the rooms in the centre.

MILL BAY — A committee headed by George Hawk is studying the possibility of installing a water system here, to relieve the current summer water shortage suffered by at least half of the community.

The proposed system, to serve 125 persons, would cost $30,000. A petition will be taken calling on the government to hold a plebiscite on formation of a water district.

DUNCAN — Fire Wednesday at Cowichan Creamery Association plant caused $3,000 damage before being quelled by combined action of Duncan and North Cowichan volunteer fire departments.

Cause of the smoke and flame which roared out of the grain elevator is not known. Aid Hamish Mutter, manager of the association, said a similar fire had been caused 18 months ago by belt friction in the elevator mechanism, but that the elevator had not been in use Wednesday.

The fire blazed briskly for 10 minutes, but was contained within one-half hour. Women of the clerical staff continued their typing as flames licked around the grain stack.

PORT ALBERNI — Wartime explosives lying "doggo" for at least 16 years came to light within hours.

Ricky Kravitz, 11, found a live mortar bomb while playing on Tenth Avenue North, and played with it for some time before showing it to his father.

He turned it over to police, who found it still contained high explosives.

Almost immediately came a report that a hand grenade had been found between cushions of a chesterfield in a second-hand store. Police are keeping it to determine whether it is live or a harmless souvenir.

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held at St. Peter's Anglican Church, Quamichan, on Friday at 10 a.m. for James Richardson, 88, who died Wednesday.

Born in England, he came to Canada in 1911, and made his home at Genoa Bay 18 years ago. He is survived by rela-

Crash Kills Pt. Alberni Alderman

QUALICUM BEACH — Aid Douglas Mallory of Port Alberni was killed instantly Wednesday night when his car collided with a skidding three-ton truck.

The accident occurred on the Hilliers-Qualicum cutoff as Aid Mallory was driving toward Qualicum. The oncoming truck was driven by Ernest Higgins, 18, of Nanaimo.

According to reports, it was the rear end of the truck which smashed into the car. Rain was falling at the time, and the narrow, winding road was reported as slippery.

Arrangements for an inquest are pending.

Aid Mallory, about 50, was serving his second term on the Port Alberni council. Survivors include the widow and two grown children.

Victoria — World Jonquil, Lakemba, Romanby.

Crofton — Bernhard Howaldt.

Nanaimo — World Leader.

Pontus — King Arthur.

Tahsis — Kastor, Hein Hoyer.

Hanged for Murder

LONDON (AP) — Edwin Albert Bush, a 21-year-old Anglo-Indian, was hanged today for killing the woman manager of a curio shop with an antique sword.

A jury decided Bush attacked her with intent to rob, a capital offence under British law. Bush contended that she stabbed the woman in a fit of anger after she called him a "nigger."

Record Likely At Nanaimo's Highland Show

NANAIMO — Hundreds of athletes and dancers will compete here Saturday in the fourth annual Nanaimo Highland Games at Caledonia Park, which promises to be one of the largest meets of this type ever to be held in the Pacific northwest.

More than 300 dancers in all classes and age groups are expected, and will start competitions at 9:30 a.m. There also will be piping events, and visiting bands will include Powell River Pipe Band, Vancouver Ladies Pipe Band, and R. C. Engineers from Chilliwack.

Other scholarship winners were Marion Glasford, MB-PR $250 scholarship for proficiency in school general program; Barbara North, Little Qualicum Credit Union scholarship for $200; Beverly Runolfson, $300 Canadian Legion Scholarship; Barbara Friedl, $250 student council bursary; Barbara Barton, $100 Mount Arrowsmith Teachers' Association scholarship.

COURTENAY (CP) — Plebiscites on basic municipal problems are ridiculous. Mayor W. C. Moore told fellow councillors here.

He said electors often defeat basic bylaws on sewers, schools, and waterworks and then, two or three years later, pay three times more for the work.

It is expected there will be a record number of individual entries for piping competitions because of the military tattoo, in Vancouver, to start July 14.

PRIMATE SAYS:

Free-Love Taught

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — The Anglican primate of Australia today charged that Australian university students were being taught free love and urged to have pre-marital experiences.

Archbishop Hugh Gough told the audience at a religious service marking the opening of the convention of the law of Australia that he has placed his charges before the youth policy committee of the state of New South Wales.

University instructors were "shamelessly teaching in our universities" soul-destroying philosophies which could lead to communism, he said.

"I am not saying they are Communists. But they are teaching ideas which are breaking down the restraint of conscience, decrying the institution of marriage, urging our students to pre-marital experience, and advocating free-love and the right of self-expression."

POWER EXPORT BACKED BY SOCRED CONVENTION

OTTAWA (CP) — Power exports—sought by Premier Bennett of British Columbia in his battle against the federal government—would be provided by a national Social Credit government.

This plank in the platform was approved today at the leadership convention "upon terms which will safeguard future national requirements."

There was no discussion, also speedily approved was the desirability of extending gas and oil pipelines throughout Canada to encourage domestic production and sales.

PNR Decides To Go Ahead
On Yukon Line

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Pacific Northern Railway has decided to build its long-proposed line between Summit Lake, B.C., and the Yukon border, it was announced today.

An announcement by president Bernard Gore, released here, said the company has accepted one of two alternatives presented recently by the British Columbia government.

The $300,000,000 line would stretch 600 miles from Summit Lake, 50 miles north of Prince George, to the border.

Mr. Gore's announcement, following a board of directors meeting at Montreal Wednesday, also said a general manager will be named shortly and that Air Vice-Marshal W. A. Curtis has been named director and member of the executive committee.

The announcement did not say which of the government's alternatives were accepted. Such details had been sent to B.C. Transport Minister Westwood who was to make the disclosure. Mr. Westwood said, in Victoria, he had not received the details.

ALTERNATIVES

Premier Bennett May 30 issued an ultimatum to the railway, which was supposed to begin construction May 24, giving these alternatives for an extension of time:

Let firm contracts by Nov. 1 for the first 100 miles of the line. Deliver firm undertakings, plans and definite work schedules for construction to Takla Lake near the border by Nov. 1 and agree to start construction not later than June 1, 1962.

This alternative required a $200,000 deposit with the government, to be forfeited if the work did not begin on schedule. Failure to follow the schedule would also bring cancellation of all applications by the company to the government.

The government was to have a reply by July 17.

The 600-mile-long railway has been discussed since 1956 when Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren and the British Columbia government signed agreements for a vast exploration and development program to be undertaken in the province's northwest.

On June 29, 1960, Premier Bennett cut down a symbolic fir at a clearing near Summit Lake, 30 miles north of Prince George, and declared that work on the line would never stop until it reached the Yukon.

SURVEYS FINISHED

The company, incorporated last year after Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company had completed surveys through northern B.C. and set out a proposed route running north-northwest from Summit Lake, cleared an area roughly 200 yards wide and three miles long.

Adjacent to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway line running to the Peace River region, the area was designated as the PNR marshalling yards.

Soon after the ceremonial beginning, work stopped.

This spring, the provincial government removed the railway from jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Act and placed it solely under the Railway Act, administered by Mr. Westwood. Conflict between the two acts had been blamed for the delay in construction.

Later this year, the government gave the PNR until mid-July to post a $200,000 bond and get at the job.

KUWAIT

U.K. Troops
To Mine Border

By COLIN FROST

KUWAIT TOWN (AP) — Britain's commander in Kuwait has ordered the desert frontier mined, charging Iraqi forces across the border appear to be building up at an increased pace.

Brig. Derek Horsford, defending his decision to mine the frontier, said: "I have been ordered to come in and organize the defence of this country. If I am caught with my pants down then I would deserve the sack."

British military sources said the Iraqis, despite their continued insistence that they would get control of the oil-rich sheldom only by peaceful means, appear poised for offensive action.

REPORTS DENIED

The Iraq news agency reported that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, after a plane survey of areas near the Kuwait border Wednesday, denied the British reports of Iraqi troop concentrations and said "the British know that... to date Iraq has not moved a single soldier."

Kassem said in his statement that Iraq will combat British imperialism "by all legitimate ways... until the liberation of our Arab countries in the gulf and until Kuwait, the stolen part, is saved and restored to its homeland, Iraq."

In the UN Security Council the United Arab Republic and the Soviet Union joined Iraq in demanding the immediate withdrawal of the British forces.

Abdel Khalek Hassouna, Arab League secretary-general, who is trying to mediate through talks with the Arab governments, was in Saudi Arabia today after conferring with sheik Abdullah and Premier Kassem.

Hassouna said before leaving Wednesday he was convinced a peaceful solution could be found.

Six British warships, including the aircraft carrier Centaur, started through the Suez Canal, bound for Kuwait. U.A.R. President Nasser, who seized the canal from British-French control in 1956, made no attempt to block them though he is opposed to the British force in Kuwait.

In London, Britain announced today it has completed movement of troops into Kuwait.

"It is hoped that as a result the situation is stabilized for the moment," the defence ministry said.

HEADS SOCRED

Welfare Approved

OTTAWA (CP) — Doctrinaire Social Crediters put up a stiff but unsuccessful fight today to keep what they felt were welfare state ideas out of the party's national policy platform.

The floor battle emerged as the Social Credit national convention studied a policy declaration on social welfare, health and research.

The aim would be to give each Canadian a chance to improve his economic status "through his own enterprise."

TCA Strike Talks

MONTREAL (CP) — Representatives of Trans-Canada Air Lines and its air plane attendants sat down with a special mediator today to try to avert a strike scheduled for July 21.

Strong Guarantees
Demanded by Kuwait

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Kuwait will not agree to the withdrawal of British troops until the United Nations gives it "good and strong guarantees" that its independence will be respected, a Kuwaiti spokesman said today.

Abdel Aziz Hussein, told a press conference he agreed with the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic that foreign troops must leave Kuwait, but insisted that British forces were there on the invitation of Kuwaiti ruler Sheikh Abdullah Al-Salem Al-Sabah to guard against "an aggressor who is threatening the peace." They will not be asked to leave until the threat is removed, he added.

PEACEFUL SAN MARINO ACCEPTS WAR DAMAGE
16 Years of Hagglng Ends

SAN MARINO (AP) — The tiny republic of San Marino, continually at peace since before the middle ages, agreed today to accept $80,000 ($244, 000) from Britain for war damage.

After 16 years of haggling with London, the San Marino Grand Council parliament voted 32 to 17 to accept the British offer. Communist and socialist members voted no.

San Marino, 38 square miles and 15,000 citizens, lies in the Apennine Mountains east of central Italy near Rimini. It claims to be the oldest republic in Europe, dating from the fourth century.

RAF bombers blasted the republic June 26, 1944, killing 59 residents and causing extensive damage. The bombing presumably was a mistake because San Marino was at war with no one.

MATRON SAVED CAROLINE

MRS. W. SALTONSTALL, fully-clothed

WASHINGTON (UPI)

Caroline Kennedy slipped through an inner tube into water over her head at a swimming pool last week and was rescued by the daughter-in-law of a senator, the White House said today.

The three-year-old daughter of President Kennedy was pulled from the water by Mrs. William Saltonstall, daughter-in-law of Massachusetts Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

Mrs. Saltonstall, a mother of two children and expecting another, jumped fully clothed into the pool when she saw Caroline was in trouble.

The incident occurred at the suburban Washington home of Jacqueline Kennedy's step-sister, Mrs. Newton Steers.

SUB-DETECTING BUOY

OTTAWA (CP) — The navy today related the story of a Russian trawler that skipped in under an RCAF aircraft laying, submarine-detection buoys in the Atlantic, swiped one and cruised off.

The RCAF Argus aircraft was laying sonobuoys in the Atlantic 100 miles off the south coast of Nova Scotia when the trawler came on the scene.

The fishing trawler made a "sharp" alteration of course and picked up one of the sonobuoys, headquarters reported.

Navy officials said no attempt was made to intercept the ship or recover the sonobuoy—which, officials said, contained no "classified" material.

CBC Revenue Hit
By Private TV

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC's need for federal funds to cover its costs rose by 13.4 per cent to $59,288,476 in the last fiscal year as new competition from private TV stations in the big cities started biting into its advertising revenues.

What's more, the financial effects of this competition will get worse, the CBC said in its annual report made public today.

The publicly-owned corporation indicated that, as a result, its calls on the federal treasury will grow larger.

The report for the year ending last March 31, tabled in the Commons by Marcel Lamer, parliamentary secretary to Revenue Minister Nowlan, showed the CBC's budget topped the $100,000,000 mark for the first time.

EXPENSES RISE

Total expenses reached $100,952,825, an increase of $6,913,060 or 7.4 per cent over 1959-60 outlays of $94,039,765 when expenses rose by 7.7 per cent.

But gross advertising revenues from TV and radio dropped by 1.5 per cent to $37,601,651 from $38,162,337, in sharp contrast with the 18.3-per-cent gain the previous year in ad revenue yields. The total was some $1,500,000 short of goals set for CBC salesmen in their drive for commercial revenues.

This commercial income, combined with some other minor revenue sources, left the CBC to use $59,288,476 of its parliamentary grant for the year.

Gov't Rejects Tariff Change

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker declared today that the Senate will have to back down on its amendment to the government's tariff legislation or the country will have a general election on the issue of Senate reform.

He said in the Commons that the tariff bill was clearly a taxation measure, on which the Senate has no right to make any amendments.

Taxation was a right of the House of Commons established in the 17th century in the United Kingdom, and held to be so by former prime minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

He spoke to resounding desk-thumping and cheers from his supporters. During his challenging speech, he glanced repeatedly to the Senate gallery where about half a dozen senators, both Conservatives and Liberals, watched and listened.

"We are not going to accept the amendment," Mr. Diefenbaker declared repeatedly.

SOONER OR LATER

The question of whether the Senate is to go beyond the responsibility it can discharge under the constitution is a question the Canadian people will have to deal with sooner or later.

He said that in the last four years of Conservative government, the Senate, which has a Liberal majority, has made numerous amendments to Commons bills, and most of them had been beneficial and helpful.

One amendment previously had come close to stepping over the line between taxation and non-tax bills, he added. But the amendment to the tariff bill was clearly a Senate challenge to a tax measure.

"In this case, the government takes its stand," Mr. Diefenbaker said. "We shall not accept the authority or right of the Senate to make this amendment."

PEARSON ASKS QUESTION

Opposition Leader Pearson asked whether the prime minister meant that the government refuses to accept the Senate amendment that there should be a right of an appeal and that the government would stand or fall on that issue.

Mr. Diefenbaker said his statement had been quite clear. There was no equivocation or fence-straddling of the type indulged in by the leader of the Opposition.

The prime minister said the tariff bill was designed to create jobs. For too long, he said, the tariff law had permitted evasions regarding goods of a class or kind made in Canada.

"Evasions of the legislation have crippled production and the industrial capacity of Canada," he said.

"If they (the senators) choose to stand on what they have done, legislation beneficial to the Canadian people can only pass out of existence."

The prime minister spoke on a government motion to reject the Senate's amendment to the bill. The Senate will receive the Commons message after it receives approval and then will have to decide whether to insist on its side or submit.

One further step is provided for in the rules. If the Commons rejects the Senate amendment, and the Senate insists on it, a conference of Senate and Commons representatives can be held to smooth out the differences.

The Senate amendment would provide an appeal against ministerial decisions applying a new definition of goods of a class or kind made in Canada.

The government measure, providing no appeal in such cases, is designed to provide stronger tariff protection for certain Canadian manufactured goods where present law provides two tariff rates — a high duty for goods of a class or kind made in Canada and a low rate for others.

'Let Board Control
Without Seizures'

VANCOUVER (CP) — W. C.

Mainwaring, president of the Peace River Power Development Company, today suggested a central energy board to develop all energy.

He said in an interview the board could self to whom ever it wished.

The establishment of the board would permit full integration of provincial power resources without expropriation of power distribution companies.

He was commenting on reports that the British Columbia government plans to take over the B.C. Electric Company and Peace River.

Mr. Mainwaring said he has had no indication that his company is due for expropriation.

He said studies by power consultants for his company fully support the theory of full integration of power sources, not only in B.C. but in the Pacific Northwest.

It would provide for the cheapest and most efficient development and would not foster how many agencies were involved or whether they were public or private.

OTTAWA (CP) — Bank of Canada Governor James E. Coyne today called Prime Minister Diefenbaker "the evil genius behind this whole matter" of his battle with the government.

In a blistering statement, Mr. Coyne said "it was his unbridled malice and vindictiveness" which seized on the issue of a pension increase for the bank governor "as a clever stick with which to beat me and intimidate me."

Mr. Coyne's statement, which hit Parliament Hill during a lull in the hot and heavy Commons debate on the government bill to fire him, also said Finance Minister Fleming "deceived and misled Parliament" over a question of monetary policy that arose in the winter of 1957-58.

The statement was issued in the form of a press release.

The 50-year-old governor renewed his demand for a hearing before a parliamentary committee and rejected a statement by Mr. Diefenbaker in the Commons Wednesday that Mr. Coyne's letters and statements made public during the dispute constitute the record before parliament.

PNR Decides To Build Link

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Pacific Northern Railway has decided to build its long-proposed line between Summit Lake, B.C., and the Yukon border, it was announced today.

An announcement by president Bernard Gore, released here, said the company has accepted one of two alternatives presented recently by the British Columbia government. The $300,000,000 line would stretch 600 miles from Summit Lake, 50 miles north of Prince George, to the border.

HEADS SOCREDS

Mr. Gore's announcement, following a board of directors meeting at Montreal Wednesday, also said a general manager will be named shortly and that Air Vice-Marshal W. A. Curtis has been named director and member of the executive committee.

The announcement did not say which of the government's alternatives were accepted. Such details had been sent to B.C. Transport Minister Westwood who was to make the disclosure. Mr. Westwood said, in Victoria, he had not received the details.

ALTERNATIVES

Premier Bennett May 30 is said to have given the ultimatum to the railway, which was supposed to begin construction May 24, giving these alternatives for an extension of time:

Let firm contracts by Nov. 1 for the first 100 miles of the line; Deliver firm undertakings, plans and definite work schedules for construction to Takla Lake near the border by Nov. 1 and agree to start construction not later than June 1, 1962.

KUWAIT U.K. Troops To Mine Border

KUWAIT TOWN (AP) — Britain's commander in Kuwait has ordered the desert frontier mined, charging Iraqi forces across the border appear to be building up at an increased pace.

Brig. Derek Horsford, defending his decision to mine the frontier, said: "I have been ordered to come in and organize the defence of this country. If I am caught with my pants down then I would deserve the sack."

British military sources said the Iraqis, despite their continued insistence that they would get control of the oil-rich sheldom only by peaceful means, appear poised for offensive action.

REPORTS DENIED

The Iraq news agency reported that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, after a plane survey of areas near the Kuwait border Wednesday, denied the British reports of Iraqi troop concentrations and said "the British know that... to date, Iraq has not moved a single soldier."

Kassem said in his statement that Iraq will combat British imperialism "by all legitimate ways... until the liberation of our Arab countries in the Gulf and until Kuwait, the stolen part, is saved and restored to its homeland, Iraq."

In the UN Security Council the United Arab Republic and the Soviet Union joined Iraq in demanding the immediate withdrawal of the British forces.

Abdel Khalek Hassouna, Arab League secretary-general, who is trying to mediate through talks with the Arab governments, was in Saudi Arabia today after conferring with sheik Abdullah and Premier Kassem.

Hassouna said before leaving Wednesday he was convinced a peaceful solution could be found.

Six British warships, including the aircraft carrier Centaur, started through the Suez Canal bound for Kuwait, U.A.R. President Nasser, who seized the canal from British-French control in 1956, made no attempt to block them though he is opposed to the British force in Kuwait.

Bus System Problem If BCE Taken Over

By FRANK RUTTER

B.C. government plans to take over the B.C. Electric will create a $20,000,000 headache: what to do with the transit system operating at an increasing annual deficit in Victoria and Vancouver.

It is expected the municipalities will be invited to assume the burden.

The government takeover is predicted next month during the special session of the B.C. legislature.

The bus systems in Victoria and Vancouver have a value previously estimated at $2,500,000.

B.C. Electric has 737 buses in the two cities and also 50 rail cars and 15 locomotives which operate a rail freight service up the Fraser Valley.

POWER AS SUBSIDY

Immediate reaction was cool in Victoria to assuming an operation which ran last year at a deficit of $578,845. (See also page 17.)

Value of the Victoria transit system has been estimated at $2,500,000.

However, if municipalities were given the task of distributing power sold to them wholesale by a new province-wide utility, city officials hope the profits from power could be used to subsidize the bus service.

Such a system is operated in Winnipeg.

But there is no indication that the government here would be willing to hand out power distribution to municipalities.

The present government power agency, B.C. Power Commission, retains its own electricity.

The idea of municipalities distributing power was tried out in B.C. at the end of the Second World War, when the late Premier John Hart considered taking over B.C. Electric.

That plan would have meant a single provincial agency would sell wholesale electricity to municipalities for retail through municipally-operated distribution lines.
